The Irish Church Bill Reported from Committee to the House—Proposed Additional Amendments.

LONDON, Friday, July 9—Midnight.

In the House of Lords to-night the Irish Church bill came up for report from the Committee. On motion of Lord CAIRNS, the date "first of May, 1871," was substituted for the "first of January, 1872," throughout the bill.

Lord REDESDALE moved an amendment, that the representatives of the Irish Church, and the Catholic Synod in cases of vacant bishoprics, nominate three persons for the Crown to select from, and that the Crown be empowered to summon one Archbishop and two Bishops from each Church to sit in Parliament.

The Earl of GRANARD protested, on the part of the Catholics, against the amendment, which he declared was utterly inadmissible, and it was withdrawn.

The Marquis of CLANRICARDE moved that clause 28, giving power to convey additional land to the Church body, be restored to its original form. He said the clause, as now amended, revived Protestant ascendency in its most hateful form, giving glebe lands to the Church body, but refusing them to Catholics and Presbyterians. It was certain that the Government and the House of Commons would never sanction the amended clause.

The Marquis of SALISBURY replied that, in moving the amendment, he contemplated similar grants to the Catholics and Presbyterians according to Mr. BRIGHT's original proposal, which Mr. GLADSTONE had indorsed. But he thought that the retention of their own glebes by the Irish Church was not unfair.

After further discussion the Earl of DENBIGH announced that the Catholics had decided not to accept glebe lands or residences.

The Marquis of CLANRICARDE's motion to restore clause 28 was lost by a vote of 40 to 91.

The amendment empracing the proposal of Earl GRANVILLE to pay half a million sterling in money instead of handing over private endowments created before 1660 was agreed to.

The report was then received.

The Earl of CLANCARTY gave notice that when the bill came up for third reading he should move a postponement of the reading for three months.

The Alabama Claims Debate in the Commons—Comments of the Times and Star—Overend, Gurney & Co.

LONDON, Friday, July 9.

The Times regards the postponement of the debate on the Alabama claims with satisfaction. Their introduction at the present moement would serve no good purpose. A general sense of weariness with respect to the subject on both sides necessitates an interval of a considerable period before it is resumed. Debate could only be useful if Parliament disapproved of the conduct of the Ministry, or wished to instruct it in regard to future negotiations. But there is no dissatisfaction. The only charge against Lords STANLEY and CLARENDON is that they were too yielding; but the Commons were not likely to advise a withdrawal of the concessions made, nor were they prepared to lay down a plan for future negotiations, and anticipations of such results from the discussion were most imprudent. Another reason for declining discussion is a due regard for national dignity, which forbids our approaching the American Government on these questions; public opinion is unanimous on this point. The late treaty was virtually American, for it was made, altered and realtered by SEWARD and JOHNSON. It was rejected as much through party antipathies as from any discontent with its provisions. It was probably foredoomed, and, whatever its provisions might have been, in all likelihood would have met the same fate. England is ready to listen to any proposals from America; but to display a desire to receive them favorably would tend to increase, not lessen, the demands. When Mr. MOTLEY considers the feeling of America is such that a treaty consistent with the honor of England will satisfy Americans, he may address the Government for a renewal of negotiations. Only such a treaty will have a chance of acceptance. Nothing more is desired than to live in peace and good will with a kindred nation; but now less disposition exists to sacrifice the interests and dignity of the country to any unjust pretensions. The public will not approve any eagerness to negotiate which seems to forebode weakness when negotiation comes. The prevalence of more moderate views in America is gratifying. It is to be hoped that the question of the Queen's Neutrality Proclamation, which has dropped out of sight, will be tacitly abandoned. This favorable change is owing to the discovery that England will not concede beyond a certain point, and this resolution is not likely to be shaken.

The Star is glad that the Alabama discussion has been postponed. American resentment against England is likely to become weaker, and her desire to reduce the burden of public debt stronger. The best thing for both countries is to hold their peace for awhile. No general discussion can simplify matters. The new House of Commons evidently preferred to leave the responsibility of the postponement on the Government; and the Star thinks the country will approve its prudent self-restraint.

It is reported that Lord HOWDEN has been appointed Minister of England to Spain.

The Associated Chambers of Commerce have tendered a public breakfast to HAMILTON HILL.

The assignees of OVEREND, GURNEY & Co.'s Bank will pay a dividend of one shilling on the pound in September, making full payment to all creditors of their claims with the exception of accrued interest.

The Turf—The Newmarket Races.

NEWMARKET, Friday, July 9.

The sweepstakes of ten sovereigns each, for two-year-old colts and fillies, was won by Wheatear, beating Mr. ELLIOTT's Elferon, by Weatherbit.

FRANCE.

The Emperor and the Corps Legislatif—The Interpellation for Political Reforms.

PARIS, Friday, July 9.

The Peuple Francais says the Deputies in the Corps Legislatif who are now signing an interpellation for political reforms are members of the Tiers Parti, and friends of the Government. They do not want the Emperor to renounce his right of initiative, but ask him to allow the Chamber to share in it. We believe the Emperor is not disposed to reject their demand. The situation is not disquieting. While one side is not disposed to make exaggerated claims, the other is equally resolved not to make exaggerated resistance. The crisis will terminate in a compromise which will satisfy public opinion. The article continues: "Minister ROUHER, in his reply yesterday to M. FAVRE, admitted that a ministerial crisis was spoken of; but the great question of changes, which will powerfully affect the institutions of society in the future, was bound up with the question of the barrier which must be raised against revolution. We know not when or by whom the agreement will be achieved; but we do know on what vital force the Chamber will rely to preserve society."

Rumored Resignation of the Ministry—The New Cabinet.

PARIS, Friday, July 9.

The evening journals announce the resignation of the Ministers. It is believed that M. ROUHER has been commissioned to form a new Cabinet, which will include four members of the Tiers Parti. A manifesto from the Emperor is looked for.

Senator RAMSEY, of Minnesota, arrived here to-day.

SPAIN.

The Ministry Condemned—Republicanism in the Provinces.

MADRID, Friday, July 9.

The Press and the people generally condemn the Ministry.

The Governor of Catalonia has been dismissed for not preventing a republican demonstration in Barcelona. Disorders are anticipated there, and troops are kept in readiness to suppress any turbulence.

THE NEW CABLE.

Advices to Thursday Noon—Everything Working Well.

BREST, Friday, July 9.

Up to Thursday noon the steamship Great Eastern had run 1,754 knots from this port, and paid out 1,977 knots of the cable. The officers of the expedition on board the steamer expected to reach shoal water by Friday noon.

JAMAICA.

Arrival of the Quaker City at Kingston—Her Destination Unknown.

KINGSTON, Saturday, July 3, } via HAVANA, Friday, July 9. }

The steamer Quaker City arrived here on the 20th ult., and sailed yesterday. Her destination is unknown.

The schooner Lahave and cargo have been embargoed.

CUBA.

Government Expenditures for July—Extension of Civil Authority—Increased Freedom of Press use of the Telegraph.

HAVANA, Friday, July 9.

The Government estimates the expenditures for July at $2,000,000, distributed as follows: War, $500,000; Navy, $200,000; Interior, $750,000; Education, $11,000; miscellaneous, $550,000. The Government has embargoed up to date 540 estates, of which twenty have produced $75,000 for the State. The rest are in a state of liquidation.

Count VALMASEDA writes to the Captain-General that the civil authority has been reëstablished in the jurisdictions of Manzanillo, Bayamo and Jignaul, and traveling on the highways was safe.

Captain-General DE RODAS has granted the correspondent of the Associated Press a freer use of the telegraph. At an interview he said that in reporting military movements the correspondent would always be permitted to state facts, though at times they might be unfavorable to the Government; that true knowledge abroad of what actually passed in Cuba would injure no one save the rebels.

The Gettysburg Battle-field—Future Work of the Memorial Association—Proposed Reunion of Officers Who Commanded on Both Sides on the Field.

GETTYSBURG, Penn., Friday, July 9.

The Board of Directors of the Gettysburg Memorial Association have passed resolutions contemplating the settlement of most important and interesting questions of fact connected with the battle, which may bring hither General LEE and other rebel Generals, as well as commanders of the Union army, and its corps, divisions and brigades. The following are the resolutions:

Resolved, That the Battle-field Memorial Association, having accomplished its first purpose by securing the tenure of all the more important portions of the battle-ground, and thus preventing a change in the physical aspect of the field, will now proceed with the next purpose of its organization—the indicating of the field with plain but enduring memorials constructed from the granite of its hills.

Resolved, That the indicating of the more prominent events of the three days' struggles, with the positions of the forces, corps, divisions and brigades, by permanent memorials, making these the land of battle its own interpreter, is the best method of according and perpetuating the history of the battle in its simple truth, and of furnishing a practical illustration in study of the art of war, thus bequeathing to the citizen alike to the citizen and foreign visitor a ready acquaintance with this battle, which, perhaps, better than any other, illustrates the greatest waged battle of the century.

The Secretary of the Association was directed to invite the Generals who commanded armies, corps, divisions and brigades, to furnish the information required, in order truly to designate the positions and events to be perpetuated; and to make arrangements for their reunion on the field in the first week of August, to confer together and determine the points to be commemorated.

The Recent Parricide in New-Hampshire—Particulars of the Case.

BOSTON, Friday, July 9.

Mr. CRAWFORD, of Lee, N. H., who was recently shot by his son, died yesterday. The particulars of the affair are as follows: On the day before the tragedy some boys had greatly irritated Mr. CRAWFORD by firing guns in the vicinity of his house, so much so that he had fired at them to force them to stop, and had wounded one in the leg. On Tuesday, the next day, a dispute arose between CRAWFORD and his son in regard to the time the boys had been firing, when CRAWFORD called his son a liar, and threatened to break a chair over his head; the boy daring him to do so, CRAWFORD struck him with one. Then the boy went to his room and got his revolver, and CRAWFORD got an ax and tried to knock his son down stairs, hitting him once near the shoulder, making a small wound. He was about to strike him again when the son shot him, first in the shoulder and then in the bowels, and then the father was overpowered by a neighbor. CRAWFORD had an ungovernable temper, and had several times threatened his son. The youth had procured the revolver for defence of his life.

The Baltimore Singing Festival—Final Arrangements.

BALTIMORE, Md., Friday, July 9.

The final arrangements for the reception of all the singing societies from New-York, Philadelphia and elsewhere have been completed. Maryland Institute and Concordia Hall, where the principal singing will take place, have been beautifully and tastefully decorated, as well as many of the hotels. The last rehearsal of the oratorio of "Messiah," by the Baltimore societies, took place to-night at the Institute. Several hundred singers were present, and the rehearsal was rendered most acceptably to the audience. The Maennerchor, of Columbus, Ohio, arrived this morning; 100 societies will arrive to-morrow. They will be formally received by the Baltimore societies, and welcomed by the Mayor at Monument-square. Quite a number of representatives of the Press are already here.

The Northern Pacific Railway—Departure of the Exploring Party.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Friday, July 9.

The Northern Pacific Railway exploring party left here this morning. The route will be from Abercrombie, on the Red River, to Pembina, where they will meet an agent of JAY COOKE & Co.; from thence to Big Bend. Governor SMITH and a portion of the party will follow the Red River to Fort Meary. On its return the party will explore the route to Lake Superior and fix the Eastern terminus of the road. A junction at Superior will be made with the Oregon party now exploring toward Puget's Sound.

The Congressional Excursion Party in the Extreme West—Their Arrival at Sheridan, Kansas.

SHERIDAN, Kansas, Friday, July 9.

The Congressional party, consisting of Senators DRAKE and SCOTT and Representatives RICE, MORRELL and ROOTS, who are going to Colorado, arrived here on Wednesday evening, highly gratified with their trip thus far and much pleased with the Kansas Pacific Railroad. They started yesterday morning by stage for the Arkansas, intending to make stoppages at Pueblo and Colorado City, thence to Denver, where they will spend a few days. Messrs. RICE and ROOTS go to Sacramento. The balance of the party will go to Denver, and return by the way of Omaha. Mr. ADNA ANDERSON and Mr. C. S. GREELEY, and others connected with the management of the road, who came from St. Louis, have returned East. The following gentlemen came with the party from Leavenworth: Major-General SCHOFIELD, General DAVIS, Inspector-General; Colonel WHEERY, and Captains EMMES and RATHBONE, aide-de-camps; Dr. RENNICK, Surgeon, and Professor CHAUVENETTE, Chancellor of Washington University of St. Louis, and his son. This party will go direct to Denver from Sheridan, escorted by a squadron of the Seventh Cavalry, under Captain YATES. Mr. GREELEY's son and Senator SCOTT's son will accompany General SCHOFIELD, who is going on an extensive inspection tour, and will spend some weeks in Colorado. Colonel GEORGE GIBSON, Fifth Infantry, and Major ELDERKIN, commanding the Department, were of the party as far as Fort Hays, where Colonel GIBBS is to take command, and Major ELDERKIN goes to Medicine Bluff to look after the food for the Indians.

ST. LOUIS, Friday, July 9.

The Congressional excursion party which is visiting the route of the Kansas-Pacific Railway, arrived at Fort Butt yesterday by a special stage from Sheridan. All were well. They express themselves highly pleased with the trip and the country.

Railroad Enterprises in the West—Gathering of Railroad Men in St. Louis—The Protested Bonds.

ST. LOUIS, Friday, June 9.

A party of gentlemen interested in railroad connections (St. Louis, Crestline and thence to Pittsburg and Cleveland) arrived here last evening. The excursion is in the interest of the new road between Terre Haute and Indianapolis, and the object is to examine the tributaries of the road and get knowledge of the country. The cars which brought the excursionists, including the first pioneer car through from Cleveland, will be transferred across the river to-day for a trip through Missouri and Kansas, and will leave by the Missouri Pacific Railroad, and after a trip to the end of the Kansas Pacific Road will return by the North Missouri Road.

The St. Louis County Court has directed its President, THOMAS J. BAILEY, and Judge CLOVER, County Counsellor, to proceed to New-York and take such action in the protested county bond matter as they may deem expedient or proper. The County Court declares that it has no desire to avoid any just legal claims against it, and if a proper tribunal decides its liability to pay in gold, the creditors will not be obliged to wait, but the coin will be paid at once.

Heavy Storm at Utica—Great Destruction of Property.

UTICA, Friday, July 9.

The heaviest rain-storm of many years passed over this city at noon yesterday. For over an hour the water literally fell in streams. The Sanquoit Creek rose very rapidly during the afternoon and reached a higher point than at any previous time for fifty years. Travel on the Utica, Chenango Valley and Susquehanna Valley Railroad is suspended, the bridge at Checkerville being gone. The dam at Chadwick's is destroyed. The bridge between here and New-Hartford is washed away, stopping travel on the Utica and Clinton Railroad. The premises of the Utica Cotton Mill Company at New-Hartford are damaged to the amount of $18,000. Two dwellings and three barns are gone. Six feet of water stood on the first floor of the factory, doing great damage to the machinery, and the dam is injured.

Infanticide—Two Cases in Reading, Penn.

READING, Penn., Friday, July 9.

Two cases of infanticide came to light in this county within the past two days. The first occurred in this city. The body of a newly-born male infant was discovered yesterday morning in a cesspool, where it had evidently laid for three weeks. The mother has been arrested and committed for a hearing. The other happened in Ortelanno Township, near Leesport. The body of a male child, apparently four or five weeks old, was found yesterday morning by a little girl, floating in Maiden Creek, with a gash in its neck below the ear. The District-Attorney and Detective LYON proceeded to the spot this afternoon to investigate the affair, and it is reported they have discovered and arrested the unnatural mother.

The New Republican Newspaper in Jackson, Miss.—Its Platform.

JACKSON, Miss., Friday, July 9.

The new organ of the National Republican Party made its appearance to-day. It hoists the name of Judge DENT for Governor. The salutatory says it will be truly national in all its aims, yielding a hearty and unqualified support to the Administration of President GRANT, and, urging a strict adherence to the Reconstruction acts, it will endeavor to bring about such wise and reasonable action on the part of the people of Mississippi as will place them in full accord with Congress and the nation, and it will advocate universal suffrage and universal amnesty upon a basis of civil and political equality to all. Judge DENT's nomination on the Grant platform meets with warm approbation and general applause.

Base Ball—Harvard vs. Athletics in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Friday, July 9.

The game of base ball this afternoon between the Harvard College Club and the Athletics, resulted in favor of the Harvards by a score of 35 to 21. The following is the total of each inning:

Harvard—1, 5, 2, 3, 10, 1, 3, 4, 6.....35
Athletics—2, 0, 2, 3, 1, 0, 7, 1, 5.....21

The College boys played a strong game, which told effectually against the hap hazard style lately adopted by the Athletics.

Escape of More Prisoners from Sing Sing.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Friday, July 9.

At 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, during the prevalence of a heavy shower, two convicts at Sing Sing Prison made their escape. Up to 8 o'clock to-night they had not been recaptured.

Miscellaneous Telegrams.

Labors of the Cortes—Historical Reminiscences—Republican Celebration of a Day of Woe—Unjustifiable Interference and Consequent Indignation—Disturbances at Ferrol and Pontevedra—Anti-Montpensier Sentiment in Seville—Opposition to the Constitution.

From Our Own Correspondent.

MADRID, Wednesday, June 23, 1869.

During the two days the Cortes have been occupied exclusively upon two very uninteresting subjects, viz., the Budget and the railways. The depotism of President RIVERO has prevented the Republicans from putting their interpellations respecting the conduct of some of the civil Governors toward their party, and the defiant attitude assumed by Minister SAGASTA in his strange reading of the Constitution, wherein he seems disposed to violate all individual rights in opposition to his tyrannical views. On Saturday last those interpellations were to have been put, according to arrangement, but the introduction of the new Ministry and General PRIM's long speech, together with the fierce debate about the Duke of MONTPENSIER's coming to Spain, prevented it. The Cortes agreed then to have two sittings daily, the mornings being devoted to the Budget until it was concluded, and the evenings to general business.

Monday night came, and Señor SERRACLARA rose to begin the interpellations; but President RIVERO would not let him. Your correspondent went into the House between 10 and 11 P. M., expecting to find it all in commotion, with Señor SAGASTA exasperated to his usual degree of frenzy. He was disappointed, however, and found everything quiet—the President and Secretaries almost asleep, the benches unoccupied, and a tedious Deputy holding forth in a most uninteresting manner upon the merits or demerits of some railroad scheme. Yesterday morning the Republicans tried again, but again the President refused, and an unpleasant altercation arose, the result of which was that RIVERO named Friday, and, not wishing to impede the business of the House, the Republicans accepted. On Friday, therefore, we may expect a stormy scene.

HISTORICAL REMINISCENCES.

The secret is now out. President RIVERO was afraid of some violation of public order yesterday, the anniversary of the unsuccessful insurrection of the 22d of June, 1866, when three or four of the infantry, artillery and cavalry regiments revolted in the barracks of San Gil to the cry of "VIVA PRIM." After a heroic struggle, in which they were joined by the populace, they were defeated by the Queen's Generals O'DONNELL and SERRANO, with terrific slaughter. That unsuccessful insurrection was the harbinger of the Revolution of 1868, and the very man who performed prodigies of valor in suppressing it from a feeling of devotion to the tyrant ISABELLA, was the same who little more than two years afterward upset her throne by defeating her troops at Alcolea. I allude to General SERRANO, now Regent of Spain. Of the prisoners made on the date in question, some fifty or sixty Sergeants of Artillery were condemned to death by court-martial, and were shot without mercy in two public spots of Madrid—one outside the Alcala Gate, and the other near the Castellano Fountain.

Wishing to celebrate the anniversary of a day so pregnant with interest to all true lovers of liberty, the Republicans this week decided to hold a great meeting in front of the barracks of San Gil, and to march in procession through the streets where fighting was most severe, to the places where the poor fellows were shot, and there to throw crowns of laurel and funeral wreaths on the little crosses marking the spots where these martyrs to liberty perished. President RIVERO conceived the idea that commotions might arise if the Republican interpellations were put simultaneously with this demonstration, and hence the postponement until Friday, that he might in the meantime see "which way the cat jumped."

It is said that on Monday afternoon a deputation of artillery officers waited upon General PRIM, and suggested he should prevent the demonstration taking place as intended, as it might lead to some difficulties with the soldiers. PRIM is said to have declined the responsibility of interfering with the newly-acquired right of public meeting, and especially so as the Republicans were concerned in it; but he suggested that the difficulty might be got over by taking the troops out early in the morning for a day's "exercise" in the country. President RIVERO, however, was not so scrupulous. Availing himself of his capacity of first Alcalde, or Mayor, he sent strict orders to the Committee of Management that they were not even to allow the procession to pass the barracks at all! The Committee, wishing to avoid a conflict, complied, but are said to have lodged a protest, and to have commenced an action against the Mayor for an excessive display of authority. Early yesterday morning they put out placards inviting the public to meet at 4 o'clock in the Plaza del Oriente, facing the Royal Palace, and to walk in solemn silence with banners furled and shrouded in crape, to the places where the sergeants were shot. This was carried out to the letter, and it was an interesting sight to see some 15,000 to 20,000 men, mostly workingmen, marching through the streets in the most solemn silence, broken only by funereal and patriotic airs from the bands of music accompanying them. By the time they got to their destination, the crowd had swelled to number quite 80,000. In the most perfect stillness the wreaths and evergreens were cast upon the little crosses, and then from a temporary platform erected close by, the vast multitude were addressed by General PIERRAD and MM. LOUIS BLANC, SOLER and CASTELAR. Then they quietly dispersed, without the least disorder. On their way back through the Prado, they met General PRIM and his little son, who were enjoying a quiet walk. The General saluted them repeatedly, and said a few kind words to several of his old friends who were among them.

It turns out now that not only did President RIVERO forbid the procession passing by the barracks of San Gil, in his capacity of Alcalde, or Mayor, but in that of chief of all the citizen forces he actually ordered some companies of volunteers to be placed at the ends of the street in which they are situated, with orders to prevent the procession going that way, by persuasion if they could, but, if not, by force. Last night an indignation meeting of the Republican Club was held to consider this conduct. It was decided to put interpellations in the House respecting it. GARCIA LOPEZ takes charge of them, and he declared that if he was not able to obtain very ample and satisfactory replies he would retire from the Congress and appeal to the country against the tyranny of the Monarchists and their despotic President, Señor RIVERO.

DISTURBANCES AND DEMONSTRATIONS.

On Sunday there was a slight disturbance at Ferrol, in consequence of the Admiralty order for all the dock laborers and shipcarpenters to swear fidelity to the Constitution, but it was soon suppressed. At Pontevedra there was, on the same day, a great manifestation of women, and an attempt to prevent the embarkation of the recently-drafted matriculas del mar, but nothing serious occurred. At Vigo there had been some show of resistance to the last conscription, but the principal source of popular commotion at present seems to be the presence of the Duke of MONTPENSIER in Spain. The decision of the Cortes on Saturday, that they would not interfere with his movements, was met by an important Republican demonstration yesterday at Seville, where 40,000 persons attended to protest against his presumption.

ANTI-CONSTITUTIONAL SENTIMENT.

The Government seems determined to exact the Constitutional oath from public functionaries of every class. The result has been that numbers have resigned, and that the resignations are still coming in. The Gazette is full of them, and there is a grand chance for office-seekers who are not quite so scrupulous. As the authors of the documents referred to, with a view of meeting the matter and avoiding embarrassments, the Republican members of the Cortes have very seriously debated, at a private caucus meeting, the course that ought to be adopted by those members of their party who might be required to swear fidelity to the Constitution under a threat of losing their honors or their offices. They have decided that a good Republican may swear fidelity to it, in a manifesto just issued and published in to-day's Republican papers.

THE FRENCH EMPIRE.

The Story of M. Schneider's Resignation.

Paris (June 26) Correspondence London Times.

It was reported for the last two or three days that M. SCHNEIDER, who succeeded M. WALEWSKI as President of the Legislative Body, and who was recently nominated a second time, had tendered his resignation. The report was well founded. Baron JEROME DAVID, who has been Vice-President of the Chamber, and who had to preside when M. SCHNEIDER was ill or absent, is one of the principal, if not the principal leader of the section of the majority known as Arcadians or Reactionists, and it was commonly believed that he would be the successor of M. SCHNEIDER, who is more disposed to liberal measures. A sort of rivalry has grown up between them; and the reactionary tendencies of Baron JEROME DAVID were believed to be more in favor at the Tuileries than the liberal disposition of the other. Baron DAVID is a military man. He was Captain in a regiment of the line, and orderly officer to the late Prince JEROME, with whom he was an especial favorite. He was returned as the Government candidate in the general elections of 1857, 1863 and 1869. The nomination of Baron JEROME DAVID to the rank of Grand Officer of the Legion of Honor was judged by the public generally as an indication that his Arcadian policy had prevailed over the moderate one of the person who was supposed to be his rival, and it, in fact, produced a very unfavorable impression on the public mind. It is to do away with that impression that the following correspondence has been published:

PARIS, June 21.

SIRE—In order to serve your Majesty I have never taken into account my personal convenience nor my personal interests. But if the Emperor will understand, I hope, that I attach more value to the sentiments of dignity, and that I consider it a duty not to allow the moral authority which is so necessary to the President of the Legislative Body to suffer in my hands.

The nomination at this moment of the Baron JEROME DAVID as Grand Officer of the Legion of Honor seems to me to have this result; it has, moreover, in the present circumstances, a significance which obliges me to pray the Emperor to accept my resignation of the high functions which he has deigned to confer upon me.

I am, with the most profound respect, the very humble and very obedient servant and faithful subject of your Majesty, SCHNEIDER.

To this the Emperor has given the following reply:

CAMP OF CHALONS, June 24.

MY DEAR M. SCHNEIDER: I cannot accept the resignation you offer me in your letter of the 21st, which I received only yesterday.

At the moment when I gave you a fresh proof of my confidence and my estimation of the eminent services which you have rendered to the country and my Government, it never entered my mind to do anything affecting your dignity, or weakening the moral authority which is so necessary to you as President of the Legislative Body. The promotion to the rank of Grand Officer of the Legion of Honor of Baron JEROME DAVID has not, in point of fact, the meaning which you attribute to it. It is the just recompense of a career honorably filled, and the realization of a promise given last year, and of which, I believe, you were aware. Neither can I admit that this nomination has, in public opinion, the significance which you seem to attach to it.

The policy of my Government is manifested with sufficient clearness to prevent any mistake about it. After, as before, the elections it will continue the work which it has undertaken—viz., the reconciling strong authority with institutions sincerely liberal.

I count upon your devotedness to aid me in the accomplishment of that task.

Believe, my dear M. SCHNEIDER, in my sincere friendship. NAPOLEON.

M. SCHNEIDER has withdrawn his resignation.

The New Legislative Body.

The newly-elected Legislative Body assembled for the first time on June 28. M. ROUHER, Minister of State, read the following statement:

"The present extraordinary session was necessary in order to hasten the verification of the elections, and thus put an end to all uncertainty respecting the validity of the electoral proceedings. According to the Government's intentions the present session has no other object. The recomposition of the Legislative Body by the process of universal suffrage is a natural opportunity for the nation to manifest its thoughts, its wants and its aspirations. But the examination of the political results of this manifestation on the part of the people should not be precipitate. At the ordinary session the Government will submit to the high consideration of the public bodies the resolutions and projects which seem to it the most calculated to realize the wishes of the country."

This declaration was received with marks of approval from several benches, and the Chamber adjourned. The next public sitting is fixed for Thursday.

TRAGEDY IN LONDON.

The Father of a Family Murders His Wife and Six Children and Commits Suicide.

From the London Times, June 29.

Early yesterday morning a whole family, consisting of the father, mother and six children, were found dead in a house in Hosier-lane, Smithfield, and under circumstances which can leave no doubt that they had perished from the effects of poison. Their names were Walter James Duggen, the father, 38 years of age; Emma Duggen, the wife and mother, 40; Walter James, their eldest son, 13 years old; Emma, 12 years; Jessie, 6: Herbert Thomas, 4; George Henry, 3 years, and Ada Frances, 14 months. The father was a working silversmith in the employment of Messrs. CHAWNER & Co., who have extensive premises used as a manufactory and offices in Hosier-lane, and with his family occupied an adjoining house belonging to the firm, living rent free. He had been in that service about six or seven years, and is supposed to have come from Bristol. Latterly, however, he had fallen into ill-health, and had been obliged on medical advice to relinquish his employment, and with it the house he occupied under his masters. Whether or not that had preyed upon his mind may now never be known. A letter in the father's own hand led to the discovery of the tragedy. It is understood to have been addressed to the Police authorities in Smithfield, where there is a district Police-station, and to have been to the effect that if they went to the house, No. 15 Hosier-lane, on Monday (yesterday) morning, they would find something to interest them. That letter, which had been posted on Sunday, was delivered about 6 or 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning, and on their going to the house indicated, which they did immediately afterward, they did indeed find something which interested them painfully. They found the front door locked on the inside, but obtained admission through a window at the back. It is a house of two floors, a first and second, immediately over some workshops, and the floor of the deceased man DUGGEN and his family had occupied it, using the first floor as a sitting-room and kitchen, and the upper floor, consisting of two apartments, as bedrooms. On a bed in the front room lay the dead bodies of the mother and of three of the youngest children, one on each side of her, and the other across the foot of the bed. The dead bodies of the daughters, EMMA and JESSIE, were stretched upon another bed in the same room, and that of the oldest boy, WALTER JAMES, upon an adjoining crib, while the body of the mother lay alone in the back room. According to one account, on a cane-bottomed chair at the side of the bed in which were the bodies of the mother and three infant children was a table glass, and a spoon was found among the bed-clothes. Another version is that the glass was found near the bed on which the dead body of the father lay, but these and other matters of detail will, no doubt, be cleared up at the inquest. A bottle about three or four inches long, labelled "Hydrocyanic acid," and "Poison," the last-mentioned word being in conspicuous letters, was found in one of the bedrooms, and another, precisely the same in size, appearance and label, in a room below. Neither bottle bore the name of the seller. A family Bible, containing the names and dates of birth of the father and mother and of the several children, written on a fly leaf, and with the marriage certificate of the heads of the little household attached, was likewise found in one of the rooms on the second floor, and by it the Police were able to ascertain the names and ages of the family. The whole of the dead bodies (eight in number) were in their night dresses, and lay in an orderly manner, mostly on their backs, and just as if they had resigned themselves to sleep for the night. The features of all of them were placid and composed, and there were no evidences of any struggle. The lips of most of them were compressed, and on those of one or two there was a slight appearance of a bluish fluid or discolorstion. At present it is matter for speculation whether, as is the more likely, all or any of them came to their deaths while in bed, or whether the murderer—assuming, of course, a murder, of which there can be no question—after dispatching his victims by a deadly poison, carefully disposed their lifeless bodies in the way in which they were eventually found by the Police, and then committed suicide. It is a remarkable circumstance in connection with the tragedy that a neighbor occupying a house exactly opposite that of the deceased saw the gas alight in the kitchen between 3 and 4 o'clock yesterday morning. Between 8 and 9, when the Police entered, the gas had been turned off, and one inference is that after the poison had been administered and had taken effect, the murderer had been for some hours occupied in disposing of the dead bodies of the victims. The remains of some charred paper were found in the kitchen grate, but on examination they did not throw any additional light on the matter.

THE ENGLISH CROPS.

British Estimate of the Prospects.

From the London Times, (City Article,) June 29.

Subjoined is a letter on the growth of the crops during the past few weeks, and the prospects of the coming harvest:

SIR: In pre-telegraphic days, at this season of the year, farmers were supposed to combine and give a better account of harvest prospects than were really justified, in the expectation that foreign shippers would thereby be deterred from sending forward supplies, and accordingly home produce would be without competition early in the Autumn. Such a state of things does not, however, at present exist; the foreign merchants in Mark-lane are better informed, as a rule, of the state of our growing crops than farmers are themselves, out of their own parish, and telegrams keep Continental houses informed of changes in weather and prospects up to within a few hours of the dispatch. Still, it is not easy to ascertain the actual position of the country, from the want of stock statistics and other means of information, except by personal inspection and close attention to the subject. For instance, as to stocks of wheat in farmers' hands, from the great scarcity of corn stacks, visible to the eye, we might at present suppose the late crop was well nigh exhausted, yet when we consider that the employment of the threshing machine often reduces, in a week, the entire produce of a farm into grannary stock ready for market, and as market supplies are still light, the returns of sales from 150 towns, showing the trade of the present season more than double that of 1868, prices being then 69s. 1½d., and now 45s. 8½d. per quarter, the conclusion must be that stocks in farmers' and dealers' hands are yet considerable, and sufficient for eight weeks more during which they will be required for consumption, wheat being now in ear, and in early districts in bloom.

Since the 15th of the present month I have enjoyed a fair opportunity of making an estimate of the present crop prospects in the large corn growing districts of the east coast, the importance of which as the natural area from which we must mainly draw our present and future cereal supplies is shown by the following figures: The average area corn-cropped in Essex, Suffolk and Norfolk ranges over 45 per cent., whereas (vide Statistical Journal) the South Midland counties reach but 40 to 45 per cent., the Southeastern 35 to 40, until in the northwest the percentage falls to between 15 and 20 per cent.; while, in respect to wheat alone, the East grows 30 to 35 per cent., the South, Midland and Southeastern 15 to 20 per cent. only. As regards acreage, Lincoln, York, Norfolk, Essex, Suffolk and Cambridge are rather more than one-third of the whole corn area of England. With the object of seeing the most country possible, at one period of the season, I have visited Herts, Cambridge, Norfolk, Suffolk and Essex, viâ the Great Eastern Railway, alighting at different stations, and being thus enabled to walk through different farms, and meet at the principal markets the farmers and millers of the districts. The weather has been throughout rainy, gloomy and cold, and with many Wintry signs, such as the flight of wild ducks and geese, the season has been extremely discouraging, until since the longest day, when a decided change (steady mercury, higher temperature, calm sea, and some sunshine) occurred. The fact of the winds having N. E. and N. W. is not unfavorable, as in 1868 and 1836, during the months of June and July, the wind from these points forty days out of the sixty-one distinguished both the two hot years. On reference to my notes, I find that, first, so the recent rain and hail storms, the wheat is not laid to any damaging extent, even when, from the magnificent point of view of Ely Cathedral, the eye looks over the level, far-stretching fen lands, where the stem and flag are, perhaps, heavier than elsewhere. In Norfolk, and especially in Suffolk, it is the exception to see much of a field laid. The worst appearance anywhere is a rusty top-color produced by the cold day winds and low night temperature. Up to a certain stage all cereal crops may be considered as green crops, and until the milky grains are forming, moisture and the absence of sun are much more felt than supposed, and plenty of straw and flag greatly helps to nourish and mature a large and well-filled ear. The wheat ear is now unsheathed, and in early districts in bloom, and hot weather is much desired. Last year's forcing heat, which, at the time, many growers regretted to shrivel up the grain, has made us expect another abnormally early harvest, which we cannot have. However, I find the season is not very backward. Wheat is expected to flower in Cambridgeshire (see Farmers' Almanack) on the 26th of June, and this year, a week later, it will be general; many Kentish fields are already in bloom. To compress into one sentence the impressions received, I may say that wheat is at present a promising crop and unharmed by such wet and cold as have prevailed. The wheat lands are thick with a strong plant, but the light lands and flats planted with wheat are thin, yellow, and characterized by spiky and spindled corn. If these lands were in area one-half instead of about one-sixth of the whole, our future prospects would be poor indeed. As it is, the loamy soils, the clay soils, and the fen lands promise us a good average crop. Find out of the total number of fields marked I have seven or twenty-eight good, twenty-eight middling, twenty-six poor crops, and having with me a geological atlas, I was surprised to find the change from good crops to poor crops almost certainly marked by passing from good to light sandy and gravely soils, on which vegetation seems starved, as is even the case with hay in parts of Norfolk, this crop being very heavy on all good meadows.

The barley crop did not satisfy me; it looked yellow, aguish and backward; but there are more marks of "middling" against the fickle thus of "bad," and in Essex and Norfolk the average of "good" fields was equal to the others.

Beans and peas are simply the strongest and largest crop I have ever noticed for the last ten years. Oats well cover the ground, which means they promise a capital crop in ordinary weather. Mangolds and turnips are in good plant, and many fields getting into leaf. The small breadth of flax planted in Norfolk is undoubtedly good, and as a singularity of the present season the new potatoes, the rye, the mustard and cole seed approaching maturity have done so in spite of May and June being cold and overcast. I think the fact, showing a superior underground temperature, affords a fair hope that my individual

AFFAIRS IN GEORGIA

Necro-Eligibility Question and Its Settlement—Public Opinion—Railroad Consolidation—Condition of the Crops.

From Our Own Correspondent.

AUGUSTA, GA., Friday, July 2, 1869.

What will the Georgia Legislature do in relation to the recent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States? It is now the great question of public concern here. It is the topic of conversation in the streets, and in the hotels and boarding-houses. Men are discussing it in every possible way. Some say that the decision is not binding upon the Legislature, and that they will not be governed by it. Others say that they will be governed by it, and that the Legislature will proceed to fill the vacancies. Others say that they will not fill the vacancies, but will wait for the Supreme Court to reverse its decision. Others say that they will not fill the vacancies, but will wait for the next Congress to remove the disabilities. Others say that they will not fill the vacancies, but will wait for the next Congress to remove the disabilities, and that they will then fill the vacancies by the election of Democrats. Others say that they will not fill the vacancies, but will wait for the next Congress to remove the disabilities, and that they will then fill the vacancies by the election of Democrats, and that they will then repeal the test oath. Others say that they will not fill the vacancies, but will wait for the next Congress to remove the disabilities, and that they will then fill the vacancies by the election of Democrats, and that they will then repeal the test oath, and that they will then repeal the reconstruction acts. Others say that they will not fill the vacancies, but will wait for the next Congress to remove the disabilities, and that they will then fill the vacancies by the election of Democrats, and that they will then repeal the test oath, and that they will then repeal the reconstruction acts, and that they will then repeal the constitutional amendments. ## POLICE TRIALS.

The Citizens and the Police of Yonkers in Trouble—A Singular Case.

Commissioner HENRY SMITH yesterday examined a number of complaints against patrolmen. Only one of the cases developed any matter of interest.

SIDNEY A. CONKLIN, of the Thirty-Second Precinct, belonging to the Sub-Precinct of Yonkers, was arraigned on a charge of improper conduct made by SAMUEL TAYLOR, of that village, the specification being that on the 29th of June Officer CONKLIN assaulted him without cause, and gave as a proof that the officer being subsequently arrested for the assault, and being taken before the Police Justice at Yonkers was held to bail in the sum of $1,000. There was a large number of witnesses present on both sides, and the investigation soon developed that the affair was the outgrowth of a bitter feud between the Police stationed in the village and the corporate authorities. The particular offence complained of by TAYLOR seemed by the evidence to have been a free fight between himself and CONKLIN in which both were badly damaged, and both being greatly excited, made use of language more emphatic than choice. There must have been an aggressor in the case, but Commissioner SMITH's effort to discover who it was did not meet with any great return from the contradictory evidence. The witnesses, too, were anxious to wander from the case in hand, and by dint of indulging in much general testimony, covering all the disputes which have arisen between the two parties, succeeded in producing an impression that the Police and corporate authorities have suffered the peace and good order of the village to be jeopardized by their wrangliness. The feature of the case was the rigid cross-examination conducted by Roundsman WESTON, whereby the complainant, TAYLOR, was forced to admit that he had been arrested several times, the offence charged at one time being murder. In return for this rough handling TAYLOR attempted to show that WESTON was a disgrace to the department, inasmuch as he was a brawler and had drank beer in a public bar-room when in uniform, and had not paid for it; but WESTON answered in the negative all the questions tending to establish these facts, and all this sort of examination and recrimination was so protracted, and the facts directly in issue became momentarily so much more confused, that Commissioner SMITH finally got rid of the perplexing affairs by referring it to the Board for solution.

Coroners' Cases.

The inquest in the case of JOSEPH SHAFER, aged 3 years, who died from injuries received by being run over by a Second-avenue car in Chrystie-street, was concluded yesterday by Coroner FLYNN. The jury rendered a verdict of accidental death, and recommended the Company to employ more experienced drivers.

Coroner ROLLINS held an inquest yesterday, at the Morgue, over the remains of Mr. HENRY WHITMORE, a guest in the Stevens House, who died from convulsions.

Coroner FLYNN held an inquest yesterday, at No. 245 East Fifty-fifth-street, over the remains of AGNES READ, aged 5 years, who met her death by scalds, sustained by a fall into a tub of hot water.

Coroner ROLLINS held an inquest yesterday over the remains of GEORGE W. ANDREWS, the gentleman who died so suddenly on Thursday afternoon, in the dental office of Dr. R. R. PERRY, at No. 24 West Twenty-ninth-street, as already reported. Dr. PERRY testified that the deceased seemed much agitated at the idea of having teeth drawn, and when he was about to apply the chloroform, he noticed that the patient's eyes were glazed. Dr. FOWLER, a physician, was at once summoned, but ANDREWS gradually sank and died. Dr. JOHN BEACH made a post-mortem examination, when he found all of the internal organs in a healthy condition. In his opinion death had resulted from pulmonary apoplexy, and the jury rendered a verdict to that effect.

Mr. GEO. HOWARD, residing in Forty-fourth-street, between Tenth and Eleventh avenues, a native of this City, aged 22 years, proceeded on an excursion on Monday down the Bay, and returned safely on the steamer to the foot of Forty-seventh-street, when he was suddenly missed by his friends. Nothing more was seen of Mr. HOWARD until yesterday, when his remains were found in the river near Fifteenth-street, and removed to the Morgue for inquest by Coroner ROLLINS.

A Singular Divorce Case—A Woman Gets Two Husbands and Loses Both.

In the case of EUGENE E. SIMONET vs. FLORENTINE SIMONET, in which a decree of divorce has just been granted in the Court of Common Pleas by Judge BRADY, it is illustrated how "vaulting ambition o'erleaps itself." By the testimony of Rev. Mr. VERON, Pastor of the Church du Esprit, in Twenty-second-street, who was the chief witness in the case, it appears that on the 17th of September, 1856, he married the plaintiff to the defendant. On the 26th of April, 1867, the defendant reappeared before him as the widow of the plaintiff, and was then joined in matrimony with one BERNARD, which sequel, shows that the defendant had contracted the second marriage without the formality precedent of the first husband's death. On this discovery being made by the second husband he sued for and obtained a decree of divorce, the first husband followed suit, and has been equally successful.

Larceny by a Pickpocket.

DENNIS GERAGHTY, of No. 65 Nassau-street, caused the arrest of JAMES MURPHY on a charge of theft. It appears that the accused was exhibiting a legerdemain trick of some kind in Park-row, near the TIMES office, when the complainant was attracted and stood watching him. He noticed MURPHY push against him, and discovered soon after that his gold watch valued at $66 had been stolen from his vest pocket, and on looking round found that MURPHY had disappeared. The Magistrate held the prisoner for trial.

LAW REPORTS.

DECISIONS.

Relker vs. Basck; motion denied. See opinion.

Edgene A. A. Simonet vs. Florentine Simonet; divorce granted.

SUPERIOR COURT—SPECIAL TERM—JULY 9.

DIVORCE—INSANITY.

Johanna Spoerry vs. Charles E. Spoerry.—This is an action for a limited divorce, and comes up at the present time on a motion for increase of alimony. It appears from the papers and arguments in the case, that the plaintiff was the unfortunate possessor of a very violent temper, which, on several occasions manifested itself in the form of teapots and plates thrown at the head of the defendant, and other similar pleasantries. Under these circumstances the husband called in a physician who gave it as his opinion that the plaintiff was laboring under some degree of mental derangement, and determining on a separation, the defendant had an agreement prepared to that effect signed by the plaintiff, in which she accepted an allowance of $600 a year for the support of herself and child.

The plaintiff now discovers this amount to be insufficient and disproportionate to the income of defendant, who is represented to be worth $100,000, and in addition therefore to a decree of separation she asks for an increased allowance.

The Court held that without further proof of the irresponsible condition of the plaintiff at the time of signing the agreement, she would be estopped by it. Motion denied.

Samuel Hirsh and J. C. Bear for plaintiff; Mr. Lockwood for defendant.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.

CONVICTION OF A SNEAK THIEF.

Charles B. Cassel was arraigned on a charge of stealing $250 from Mr. Silas G. W. Brown, of Newburg. The complainant testified that he drew $450 on a check on the Chatham Bank, at the corner of Broadway and John-street, on the 13th of May, and that while he was counting the money in the bank the prisoner suddenly approached him from behind, and, touching him on the shoulder, presented him with a letter, upon with a name on it, which he asked to have read. The complainant complied, but on proceeding to resume the counting of the money discovered that the largest portion of it had disappeared. He saw the prisoner at the time except the prisoner. The trial resulted in a conviction, and the latter was subsequently sentenced to state Prison for five years.

A BAXTER-STREET OCCURRENCE.

August Felgansney, against whom there were three indictments for larceny, pleaded guilty on one and received a sentence of three years' imprisonment. His chief offence was the stealing of a gold watch valued at $75, the property of Mr. Mary Dinkert, of No. 47 Baxter-street. He visited the complainant's apartments on the 25th of May with some clothing which he desired to have washed, and while there he asked her to purchase some milk, giving her twenty-five cents for the purpose. On her return she missed her watch and the prisoner with it.

A CHINAMAN TROUBLED BY BOYS.

James Smith and Joseph Murphy, two boys, pleaded guilty to petit larceny on an indictment for robbery of the Chinagrass. They were charged with attacking a Chinaman named Charles Ahading, in his room at No. 73 Cherry-street, and with stealing $11 worth of property from him. It transpired that the boys committed the theft while the complainant was engaged in a drunken row with his wife. Sentence was deferred until Monday.

LIBEL ON A BANKER.

Daniel W. Van Aernam pleaded guilty of libel. Judgment was suspended, and he was discharged. The complainant in the case was Abia A. Selover, a banker in Broad-street, against whom the defendant uttered certain defamatory accusations in a printed circular, which he gratuitously distributed in the principal hotels. The libel consisted of the statement that the complainant had swindled merchants in this City and Boston, that he was an "expelled Californian," and also contained a statement that he had a bad private character, &c. The Court suspended judgment at the complainant's request, but cautioned the defendant not to repeat his offence.

POLICE COURTS.

Essex Market—Shandley, Justice.

ASSAULT ON A FEMALE VELOCIPEDIST.

A rather attractive English blonde named Selina Goldman, who recently arrived in this City in the role of a professional female velocipedist, made a complaint against Isaac Giles, residing in the Bowery, near Spring-street, for assault. She said that she visited the defendant's place of business for the purpose of seeing his wife with whom some friends who she was seeking for her, and that while there the defendant attempted to take liberties with her, he having kissed her, and bit her lips. He was held to answer.

The Tombs—Dowling, Justice.

THE PAKEL GAME.

As Maurice Shaul, of No. 15 Montgomery-street, Jersey City, was passing the corner of Broadway and Canal-street on Thursday evening, he was accosted by Louis Kelly, aged 23, a native of Newark, N. J., and residing at No. 21 Wooster-street. The woman, after brief conversation, proceeded to invite Shaul to accompany her to a disreputable house in Howard-street, where he found himself robbed of $240 in national currency and of his gold English coin. He subsequently caused Justice of the Peace Officer Cassidy, of the Fourteenth Ward Police, who, on visiting the scene of the robbery, found it to be a complete panel-house. When arraigned before the Magistrate the prisoner was fully committed for trial in default of $5,000 bail. The money was not recovered.

DARING HIGHWAY ROBBERY.

At a late hour on Thursday night, as Mr. Geo. Roll, a resident of Brooklyn, was passing the corner of Broadway and Maiden-lane, he was suddenly assaulted by five men, who subsequently gave their names as Edward Gibson and John Murray. These villains robbed Mr. Roll of his coat, in a pocket of which was a pocket-book containing $145, with which they made off. The cry for the Police uttered by the victim was promptly answered by Officer Gleason, of the Seventh Precinct, who succeeded in arresting both of the highwaymen. A few minutes after the arrest, Officer Kehoe, of the Second Precinct, found the stolen pocket-book, with contents intact, near the scene. Both of the prisoners were arraigned before the Magistrate yesterday morning, and by him fully committed for trial without bail, the papers being also forwarded to the Grand Jury for immediate action.

LARCENY ON SHIPBOARD.

Captain Robert M. Roberts, of the steamship Hattieras, lying at Pier No. 37 North River, on the evening of the 7th inst. placed a roll of bills containing $145 under the pillow of his berth in the state-room occupied by himself. The next morning Christopher Wilson, the waiter, who had a duplicate key to the room, made the Captain's bed, after which time the money was missed. As Christopher strenuously denied having even seen the money, he was arrested, and when brought before the Magistrate, he was remanded for trial in default of the necessary bail. The stolen money was not recovered.

FRIDAY, July 9—P. M.

The Treasury of the United States purchased at noon to-day $3,000,000 United States 5-20s of the various issues, at the following rates for the Principal of the Bonds—the accrued Interest in Gold since the last Dividend being settled in favor of the seller as a separate transaction. The sum total offered to the Treasury for the Sinking Fund was $5,126,000. The whole purchase of $3,000,000 averages within a small fraction (accrued Interest being taken into the account) of the market of the forenoon. After the awards the 5-20s of 1867 advanced in the open market to 117⅝ ℔ cent., on account of the comparative scarcity of these Bonds for prompt delivery, though later in the day the quotation returned to 117⅜@117½ ℔ cent.

| Total | | | $3,000,000 |

The general credit of the Public funds was appreciated in the market by the present and last Saturday's considerable purchases for the Sinking fund, and prices left off firm. The prompt action of the Secretary is much commended and the belief gains ground that he means to follow up these purchases as long as his Currency balances continue in excess of a fair working sum in the Treasury. The rates of premium which he has thus far had to pay are by no means extravagant, and the saving of Interest for the benefit of the Sinking Fund will in a short period more than compensate the Government for thus anticipating the maturity of its Gold-bearing obligations. That the Secretary has made up his purpose to lose as little Interest as possible, on his Currency balances, and no more than is consistent with a liberal reserve of Gold Coin, seems to be more and more certain every day. And we know of no measure of Treasury economy that ought to commend itself more emphatically, to the public approval. We believe that by the reassembling of Congress he will be enabled to report a further reduction of the Public Debt, for the intervening five months of fifty millions of dollars.

The sales of Gold advanced from 135 to 135⅛@135⅜ ℔ cent., closing at 135⅜ ℔ cent. The Foreign Exchanges again looked firm, and some moderate shipments of Coin, in addition to the usual exports of Gold and Silver bars, are spoken of for Saturday's steamers; but the business in Bills at the top figures of 109¼ ℔ cent. on London, 60 days, and 110⅝@110½ is not yet sufficiently free to make a resumption of active shipments in American Gold Coin a certainty.

The rates for Money to the Brokers to-day were 7 ℔ cent. Currency or 7 ℔ cent. Gold Interest, most of the business being done, into in the day, at the inside rate. United States 5-20s were carried over, in some instances, at 6 ℔ cent. The general appearance of the market was much easier than on Tuesday and Wednesday, with an improvement on Thursday's modified rates.

In the State Bonds there was a continued pressure of and decline in the new issues of North Carolina. We hear no explanation of the heavy sales and serious fall in price, beyond the suspicion that the recent pressure for money has forced a large amount on the market out of weak hands, whose margins on their hypothecations had run out. With all this, the decline would not, perhaps, have proved so bad but for the loose way in which the Legislature of the State, while in a state of suspension on the Old Bonds, has voted these New Bonds to Railway projects of doubtful responsibility.

The Railway Shares displayed considerable firmness through the forenoon, and confidence in the Vanderbilt New-York lines, and most of the Western Roads is decidedly on the increase. The best prices of the morning were not quite sustained at the Second Board of the Exchange, but subsequently in the Long Room and on Broad-Street, the general list was again firm, closing as follows at 5:30 P. M.:

The Treasury Office, received in Currency for the sales of Gold made yesterday, $1,350,000; and paid out $1,686,000 on the purchases of United States 5-20s made for the Sinking Fund at noon to-day—only about one-half the Bonds being brought in to-day. The receipts in Gold for Customs were $926,000, and the Gold Interest paid out amounted to $593,000.

The week's imports of foreign dry goods have been to the specie value of $1,110,046; amounts marketed $814,793.

EMMET WELL notices the week's business thus: "Since our last, the market has ruled extremely firm, "Since our last, the market has ruled extremely firm, and the result shows a further advance in prices of 1c. @2c. ℔ lb. This improvement was scarcely looked for, the English quotations, in addition to the heavy export draft made within the last few days upon our reduced stocks, we are not surprised to note the improvement. The writer of these reports has just returned from a tour to the great Hop districts of 'Old Schoharies.' A review of the observations therein made would only confirm the reports we have recently published concerning this locality, and the same remarks will apply to other districts in this State. Yards which have been well cultivated and kept free from weeds, appear a hundred per cent. better than those which have been neglected. The vine in neglected yards looks spindling and weak, and lected yards looks spindling and weak, and has but just reached the tops of the poles; while those in the better cultivated yards, are already armed out, and already in blossom. A careful examination of the under-leaf, in all yards we visited, showed a slight sprinkling of the insect, which is not likely to increase as long as the weather continues cool and pleasant as now. Buyers were through Schoharie and pleasant as now. Buyers were through Schoharie to the close of the week, offering 5c.@10c. ℔ lb. The latter price was freely paid for choice grades. Exports last week, 3,130 bales. Receipts, 1,416 bales. Total exports for the season, 4,546 bales. Our London correspondent writes us with the following, under date June 24:

"Our market is quiet for home growths, but Americans are in stronger request, particularly for Crops offering from 82s. 6d. to 85s. 6d. ℔ cwt. Low grades are difficult to place. Our plantation reports, with the exception of Mid and East Kent, are very unsatisfactory, mildew having appeared in most districts, and already vermin being on the increase, and the vine generally losing its growing point; but there is, of course, sufficient time left for things to mend, should favorable weather ensue. Reports from Bavaria are more favorable,

NEWS OF THE DAY.

EUROPE.

The London Times and Star, in leading editorials yesterday, express satisfaction with the postponement of the Alabama claims discussion in the Commons.

It is announced that the assignees of OVEREND, GURNEY & Co. will pay a dividend of a shilling on the pound in September, making full payment of the claims of all creditors, with the exception of the accrued interest.

A report is in circulation that Lord HOWDEN has been made English Minister to Spain.

The evening papers of Paris, yesterday, announced the resignation of the Ministers.

GENERAL.

The directors of the Gettysburg Memorial Association now propose to indicate the more prominent events of the three days' struggle, with the positions of the different and contending forces, by permanent memorials on the field; and they suggest a reunion at Gettysburg the first week in August of the Generals who commanded on both sides during the battle, to discuss this plan and determine the points to be commemorated.

The towns of Wallingford and Shrewsbury, Vt., are much excited over the discovery of a valuable "lead mountain" within their territory. Some of the rock has been blasted out and specimens sent to this City, Boston and Washington for examination.

At the annual meeting of the New-Hampshire publishers, editors and printers, at the Pemigewasset House, Plymouth, N. H., on Thursday next, the address will be delivered by Mr. T. H. MILLER, of the Portsmouth Chronicle, and the poem by Mr. GEORGE A. MARDEN, of the Lowell Courier. The following day they will have an excursion on Lake Winnepisseogee.

A young man named WILLIAM BOOTY, residing with his parents in Chicago, attempted to kill his mother on Wednesday with a knife. He was intoxicated at the time, and was enraged because she took some money from him to prevent his spending it. She succeeded in escaping from him with a few slight cuts, and after fighting with a policeman for a while, the infuriated youth was captured and lodged in a station-house.

A binocular microscope of considerable value which was stolen from the laboratory of the Bowdoin Medical School of Brunswick, Me., about three years ago, was recently found in the possession of a young Portland physician, who at the time the instrument was taken was a student in the school. Upon being arrested, it is said, he confessed and gave bonds for appearance for trial, but he has since forfeited his bail and disappeared.

The Peabody Institute in Danvers, Mass., will be dedicated on Wednesday afternoon next, in accordance with the wish of Mr. PEABODY, who will be present if not prevented by sickness.

The Dominion Rifle Association match will take place in Toronto on the 6th of September. It is announced that the Governor-General will be present and open the shooting, and that fifteen hundred competitors are expected. Over $4,000 in money are to be given in prizes.

The journeymen House-carpenter's Association of Washington have amended their Constitution so that no negro carpenter can become a member.

Much property was destroyed in Utica and vicinity on Thursday by a heavy rainstorm. The bridge at Checkerville, in the Utica, Chenango Valley and Susquehanna Valley Railroad, was washed away by the rising of the water, and travel on the road is consequently temporarily suspended; the dam at Chadwick's was destroyed; the premises of the Utica Mill Company at New-Hartford were damaged to the extent of about $18,000; a couple of dwelling-houses and several barns were demolished, and some other property was more or less damaged.

THOMAS MULHALL, twice convicted at Cleveland, Ohio, of aiding and abetting the murder of DAVID P. SKINNER, was yesterday sentenced to be hanged on the 26th August; and JOHN KILROIL, convicted of being an accessory to the plot to rob Mr. SKINNER, was sentenced to 15 years' imprisonment.

The lager-beer dealers of Boston have formed a permanent organization for vigorous political action to bring about the repeal of the liquor law. The Germans throughout the State are invited to form local societies for the same object.

The Connecticut Senate have refused, by a vote of fourteen to seven, to release JEREMIAH TOWNSEND, the New-Haven bank robber, from prison.

Mr. WOODRUFF, Ex-President of the Cigar-makers' Union, Troy, who was recently expelled from the Union, announces that as the Union prevents him from retaining his position as a cigar-maker in a Union shop, he will sue the members for conspiracy.

The late Judge FLETCHER, of Boston, leaves, in addition to the hundred thousand dollars to Dartmouth College, $5,000 to the Baptist Publication Society of Philadelphia, to be safely and permanently invested, and the income to be used in employing colporteurs; $500 each to the Baptist Missionary Union, Home for Aged and Indigent Women, in Boston, Home for Aged and Indigent Men, in Boston, Massachusetts Bible Society and Home for Little Wanderers; and also $1,000 each to the Boston Children's Friend Society, and the New-England Home for Woman and Children.

The postal appointment of THOMAS P. CHENEY, of Ashland, N. H., is that of Assistant Superintendent of Railway Mail Service for the First Division, which includes the New-England States, with headquarters at Boston. His pay is $1,600 per annum, with $5 per day additional for subsistence.

The people of Hudson County, N. J., wish to unite the several towns of Hudson City, Jersey City, Bergen, Hoboken, &c., in one corporate city. The Executive Committee is to decide upon the proper steps to be taken in the matter next Monday night. It is an old project revived and agitated by the tax-payers of the county.

Rev. Dr. CALDICOTT, pastor of the Bond-street Baptist Church at Toronto, Canada, and formerly of Brooklyn, died in the former place yesterday morning.

JOHN GRIFFIN, who was arrested a short time ago on a charge of being one of the party who robbed the safe of the Brooklyn Dime Savings Bank of the box and deeds belonging to the estate of JOHN A. CROSS, was before the Court of Sessions, Brooklyn, yesterday. Being put upon the stand he stated that he had received the stolen property from one NOBLE, not knowing what it was, and was immediately thereafter arrested. He further stated that NOBLE was concerned with himself in the Royal Insurance Bond Robbery, and had "beaten" him out of some $35,000 or $40,000 of the stolen property.

A farewell reception was given to the Harvard international boat crew last evening by the Nassau Boat Club of this City, General ASPINWALL, President, at their Club-house, foot of Thirty-fourth-street, North River.

Mrs. ROSANNA DEANE, a lunatic, living in West Thirteenth-street, yesterday murdered her mother-in-law, Mrs. SUSAN LAMBEAUX, by striking her, while asleep, with a hatchet.

THOMAS ALLEN, arrested on Thursday at Hoboken, charged with poisoning his wife, was discharged yesterday, the Coroner's jury having decided that the woman had committed suicide.

The German Republican and the Eighth District Republican Associations have decided to consolidate, and immediate steps are to be taken at the next meeting to join forces.

The German Central Committee last evening appointed a Committee to confer with the Board of Education on the subject of teaching the German language in our public schools.

A man named JAMES COLLINS, known as "Bummer," and JOHN FORCE, a negro, were severely stabbed by a black man at a colored picnic, between Morristown and Madison, on the 5th. The assailant has not been arrested.

Considerable consternation prevails among sundry brokers and bankers down town who are threatened with prosecution for having exacted usurious interest from their customers.

A number of sailors threatened to mutiny on board the North German vessel George & Johann, on Thursday, and two Deputy Marshals were dispatched to the scene to maintain order.

The total valuation of taxable property in this City and county for the present year is $964,100,597. This is an increase of $55,664,370 over the valuation of 1868.

The Virginia Victory—Efforts to Make Mischief.

Two classes of mischief-makers are busying themselves with the Virginia election, with the view of adapting it to their respective purposes. Democrats are claiming it as a Democratic victory, and insisting that it is the result of Democratic strength and effort. Partisans of WELLS and the defeated ticket are denouncing it as the product of fraud, and are invoking Congressional assistance to arrest and reverse the action of the people and the law. Both of these representations are dishonest. Both are false, as matters of fact, and are conceived in the interest of those who, on one hand, would frustrate reconstruction, and, on the other, would make it the means of personal aggrandizement.

National politics really had little to do with the contest. Old party names were banished, and every attempt to introduce the mere political element was promptly repelled by the supporters of WALKER. Whatever interest was manifested by Democrats out of the State was clearly against the movement championed by the Walker Party. The World of this City labored again and again to persuade the Virginians to have nothing to do with reconstruction. And though now it chooses to "congratulate Virginia on her superb success," we have but to turn to its files to trace a subtle but not the less malignant hostility to all plans for bringing the State into harmony with the law. There were also Democratic politicians in the State who resisted the ratification of the Constitution, and urged the people to dare the General Government to do its worst. The pretence that the Democracy gained this victory is, then, as hollow as it is impudent. So far as they revealed old party affinities, they were against both WALKER and WELLS; they were against every step that seemed to lead in the direction of reconstruction. The "superb victory" of which the World speaks was achieved not only in spite of the suggestions of that journal, but in defiance of the declared will and purpose of the party it represents.

The absurdity of the Democratic pretence becomes still more apparent when the nature and consequences of the victory are considered. Had the Walker platform been equivocal, or had the triumph of the Walker ticket been attended with the rejection of the Constitution, we could have understood the attempt to pervert the significance of the popular vote. But the election has settled everything precisely as the Democrats desired not to have things settled. It has decreed the continuance of universal suffrage. It has invested the negro with political equality. It has imparted life to the Constitution prepared by the Convention held under the Reconstruction acts. It has created a Legislature whose members are eligible under the law, and of whose readiness to ratify the Fifteenth Amendment there seems no doubt. It has chosen qualified men for Congress; and has vested the chief offices of the State in hands pledged to the support of the Republican policy, and prepared to labor in cordial harmony with President GRANT. Finally, it has dispelled the fear that in political affairs race would be ranged against race, and has demonstrated the mutual willingness of white and black to coöperate for a common purpose, and that purpose one which commends itself to the feeling and judgment of the country.

If there is anything in this result over which Democrats can reasonably chuckle, we are curious to know where and what it is. The very measures which they denounce most vehemently in Ohio, Pennsylvania and Indiana have been sustained in Virginia. The policy they approve, WALKER and his supporters have repudiated. The new Constitution which they have described as a "covenant with death," has been ratified by a majority of forty or fifty thousand; and the ratification of the pending amendment, which they describe as "a league with hell," has been assured by the same majority. A more complete Republican triumph could not be desired. For though national politics, as such, played only a slight part in the contest, the Republican character of the victory is proved by the results it achieves. An election which gives effect to the policy of Congress, realizes the objects contemplated by the President, and places at the head of the State a tried and consistent Unionist, who is in cordial unison with the principles and aims of the National Administration,—cannot be characterized otherwise than as a Republican success. The battle was fought on Republican ground, and the mortification of defeat belongs to the National Democracy as well as to the proscriptionists composing the Wells Party.

The endeavors of the latter to weaken the moral force of the victory by describing it as the product of political profligacy, aided by fraud at the polls, are not deserving of respectful attention. They are so manifestly occasioned by disappointment and defeat that they will obtain little heed from the country. A dispatch we published yesterday reports General CANBY to have declared himself "much pleased at the good order in the election," which, from the reports of his officers, he believed to have been "as fair as could be held in any State of the Union." We do not doubt that he is right. From not a single locality have we seen evidence of violence or rascality at the polls. The contest was conducted with creditable order, and its termination reflects the deliberate preferences and purposes of the people.

As to the pretensions to superior political orthodoxy, which are put forward in behalf of WELLS and the defeated ticket, we are persuaded that they will not endure examination. The personnel of the winning ticket, considered with reference to character and capacity, is in every respect entitled to consideration. And in regard to principle this fact should be decisive: the Walker and the Wells platforms are identical in their Republicanism. Whatever difference of principle exists between them relates to the proscriptive provisions of the new Constitution, which have been expunged. And, as General GRANT favored the expurgation of these clauses, which were voted down by the Walker Party, while the Wells Party, as a whole, sustained them, it is tolerably plain that, on the only point of difference between the parties where principle is involved, WALKER is in more complete harmony with the Administration than his opponent.

This review of the case is rendered appropriate, if not necessary, by the evident desire of mischief-makers to invest the victory with a false coloring, as a preliminary to an appeal for Congressional interference. The guilt and shame of this desire belong equally to Democrats of other States and the supporters of WELLS in and out of Virginia. The former class are more solicitous for the defeat of reconstruction than for its success: the latter care nothing for reconstruction, except as a means of promoting their personal interests. They are equally untrustworthy, and their purpose is a common one.

It is in view of this opposition, open or treacherous, that a correct understanding of the scope and significance of the election, and of the antecedents, character and principles of the successful candidates, becomes important. The facts of the case are all favorable to the work accomplished by the majority. They prove conclusively a literal compliance with the requirements of Congress, and a bona fide acceptance of its policy; and more than this is not necessary to entitle the State to the privileges incident to reconstruction.

The Long Branch Affair.

If Governor SEYMOUR has relapsed, since November last, into comparative retirement, not to say oblivion, so has not his associate and friend General BLAIR. This latter gentleman has frequently, of late, proved that he "still lives," and that he has no intention of being quietly snuffed out of public notice by the political extinguisher popped over his head last year at the polls.

Now, whether it was anything more than want of tact that induced General BLAIR to make the speech which he did the other night at Long Branch, it is hard to say. If he desired to be "loudly hissed," and to create a serious disturbance in that friendly meeting of the Society of the Army and Navy of the Gulf, he apparently went to work in the right way; if he did not desire this, it is astonishing that he adopted that line of remark. Whether T. J. JACKSON and his men form the most improving subjects for the adoration of our people at this moment is a general question which we need not here discuss—but it is sure that the object of the Long Branch meeting of veterans of the war was to revive memories of the living who fought and the dead who died for the Union, rather than to hear the eulogy of those who did their best to break up our Union, and leave us a wrecked nation on the stream of history. It was not, we say, for political speeches, or for eulogies of men who advised raising the black flag against our dear lads that died for the country, that FARRAGUT and PHIL. SHERIDAN and a host of heroes less distinguished were assembled at Long Branch.

There is a time for all things—a time for candor and magnanimity, but also a time for patriotism and stern resolve; a time for forgiveness of the living, and a time for respect to the dead; a time for partisan frenzy, and a time for patriotic memories. General BLAIR'S speech would not have been amiss for the latitude of Tammany Hall, but it was taken as an insult, it seems, by those whom he actually addressed. The other day Rev. Mr. HOLLAND spoke to the students of Washington College, Lexington, Va., holding up to them, as a perfect exemplar, this same General T. J. JACKSON. We had occasion to review the speech and to criticise it on other grounds, but we did not so much as notice this, knowing the place and the audience. But when it comes to having "Stonewall" or "Black-flag" JACKSON thrust down our throats, as well as down Confederate throats, we object; and we must say that, considering the time, the object, and the character of the assembly the other night, it is no wonder that General BLAIR'S inappropriate panegyric on JACKSON was "hissed" and himself "groaned;" that he was called to order by Admiral FARRAGUT for having broken the rule of the Society by a political speech, and that the feelings stirred up against him by the members of the Army of the Gulf are those of indignation. It is pretty much the same, probably, as if the Lexington orator had called upon the Shenandoah Valley students to reverence SHERIDAN.

We will add that it was doubtless more the manner than the matter of General BLAIR which so offended his hearers. General CHAMBERLAIN'S oration, the other day, before the kindred Society of the Army of the Potomac, contained the most generous eulogy of the valor and constancy of the Confederate Army—in its terms it was more eloquently eulogistic than General BLAIR'S. But the latter's remarks were somehow so defiant, that they seemed as if flaunted in the faces of his hearers, and as if he claimed to have all the magnanimity for our late enemies, now our friends, and they none. This was the secret, we suspect, of the whole trouble—a blunder in the tact and tone, rather than the words, of General BLAIR.

The Mormon Problem.

It would seem that Mormonism, which has been so long waxing in Utah, is now, if not actually waning, at least at a standstill, with ominous prospects of a decline. In the first place, the influx of the Saints has of late not been large; in the second place, the rushing-in of Gentiles, what with the Pacific Railroad open and the new tide of American immigration setting in, has been unusually great, and promises to be greater; in the third place, the "Josephites," or the people who "sour on Zion," have been sowing heresies in Brighamyoungdom, and it is thought that even the pillar of polygamy is in peril of falling out of the Church establishment. And while such is the spiritual state of Utah, the temporal is hardly more encouraging. It is "hard times" there—the dullest and hardest known in the commercial history of the Territory. Business is dull, trade duller; Ogden has some spirit, but Salt Lake City none.

BRIGHAM shows himself the man for the crisis. Instead of attempting to stay the wave of Gentile immigration, he welcomes and seeks to control it—he takes hold of the railroad projects with a will, and is determined that his connection with them shall be creditable. Meanwhile, he exerts a little, delicate, anti-Gentile pressure by his late schemes of coöperative industry and coöperative stores, designed, of course, to help along the Saints and crush out the commerce of the Gentiles. His late tour to Bear Lake seems to have had for its main object the fostering of this policy, and among its statistics are that he preached sixty-one sermons. This is what we may call "practical preaching;" and now the Mormon mercantile interests are organized into a vast system centering in Salt Lake City.

Again, extra efforts at Mormon immigration are making this year. The missionaries in Europe are working like beavers, and are forwarding companies of the faithful—the first installments for the season have already reached Utah. In these ways BRIGHAM YOUNG hopes to counterbalance the Gentile influence, which will now, with the opening of the Pacific Railroad, become so strong in Utah. Given a full half century, with a hundred thousand faithful Mormons to start with, and the doctrine of polygamy alone might settle the question of population against Gentile influence. But the trouble is that Mormonism in Utah has not had that start. It has had less than half that number of years, and its nucleus was a handful of souls and bodies. Besides, the infantile mortality, despite the sobriety and cleanliness of the Mormon people and cities, has been very great. More than that, the doctrine of polygamy, which at first seemed somewhat attractive, now is fixed, it would appear, on anything but a firm foundation. And, in brief, it is safe to predict that, considering that the rapid finish of the Pacific Railroad has taken Mormonism unawares, polygamy will either voluntarily be discontinued within a dozen years, or the practice will be forcibly cast down. The death of BRIGHAM YOUNG would probably be the signal for the breaking up of the whole distinctive structure of Mormonism.

The Dupuy Case—Canceling Pardons.

The decision of Judge BLATCHFORD in the matter of the habeas corpus issued on behalf of MOSES DUPUY to test the question whether the pardon of DUPUY signed by President JOHNSON on the last day of his official life was a valid one, which could not be recalled by President GRANT, has been printed in pamphlet form and a copy of it is before us. The decision is an important and interesting one—not only in itself, but because the case has been made the occasion of attack upon the President. It was said that as matter of law, the pardon could not be recalled, and that President GRANT'S action in revoking it and ordering it to be destroyed was an unlawful act. The World was a leader in this attack. It laid down the law ex cathedra, that the pardon was complete as soon as it was sealed, and that the discussion by DUPUY'S counsel of the question whether the pardon had ever been delivered was entirely irrelevant. It cited as decisive of the case the ruling of the Supreme Court in the case of MARBURY vs. MADISON, in which it was held that an officer's appointment was complete as soon as the commission was signed and sealed; and after the decision in the case was announced it repeated its former views, and even declared that this "vital question in the case" had not been "touched either by the prisoner's counsel or the Government attorney," and did not "seem to have so much as entered into the mind of the very learned Judge."

But so far is this from having been the case, that the main part of the decision is occupied with discussing this very question, and showing that it is settled law that a pardon has no validity until it has been actually delivered to the prisoner or to some one for him. The Judge cites the case of the United States vs. WILSON, (7 Peters, 150,) in which Chief Justice MARSHALL, who had delivered the opinion in MARBURY vs. MADISON, holding that a commission is valid without a delivery, held in so many words that "a pardon is a deed, to the validity of which a delivery is essential." He also cites a decision by the full Bench of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, to the same effect.

It seems to us, and we submit it to the consideration of the World whether it is not so, that now when the Judge's decision has been examined at leisure, some acknowledgment of its error is due. The charge was made against the Judge of not having considered the very question on which he made his decision to turn. The charge was made against President GRANT that he had acted unlawfully in acting upon views which had been held by eminent judicial authority and which were not opposed by any authority except that of the World itself. The public will see that both charges were without foundation, whether any such acknowledgment is forthcoming or not.

Another Crisis in Spain.

There is more trouble brewing in Spain. The Republicans failed to carry their condemnatory resolution with regard to the violent language of Señor HERRERA, but they obtained 94 votes against 142, and were supported by General PRIM. Admiral TOPETE objected to making the affair a Cabinet question, but it is said that a total disruption of the Ministry is imminent, if not the resignation of the entire Cabinet. We are not surprised to hear it. So much time has now been wasted in looking round for a king, and the chances of meeting with anybody at once fitted for the post, and willing to accept it, are now so small, that the faith of all but the most enthusiastic believers in the monarchical principle must be terribly shaken. It has become open to ridicule. Spain has for months been advertising "Wanted, a King," and no answers from really eligible parties have yet been received, or are likely to be. Things have at last arrived at a crisis. The farce of a Regency cannot be much longer maintained. There can be no doubt that it would have been greatly to the advantage of the country if a decent king could have been found at first. The establishment of a monarchy on satisfactory conditions would have tended to settle things and harmonize conflicting parties, and would have enabled the Cortes to proceed at once to the consideration of the final matters which so pressingly demand well-considered legislation. If any scion of the Royal races of Europe, even though not possessed of any remarkable wisdom or experience, could have been persuaded to accept the throne, it would have been far better for Spain. Once established, nothing short of a violent revolution, caused by gross incompetence, or attempted usurpation on his part, could have overthrown him, whereas, at present, no earnest patriot is content, while the partisans of all the ambitious and self-seeking candidates ever mentioned are still eager, restless, and tempted to postpone the true welfare of the country to their own personal interests. A Regency, on the other hand, settles nothing. Nobody is satisfied, the Republicans have a valid excuse for persisting in their mischievous policy of abstention, and a general feeling of uncertainty pervades the nation. Marshal SERRANO fills the position of a President whose power for good is paralyzed by the uncertainty of his tenure of office, while at the same time he incurs the odium, among a large section of the Cortes, consequent on being the representative of an obnoxious principle. The Republicans, it is said, are content to wait upon events. That is unquestionably their best policy as a party, and it is difficult to say what else they can do with advantage to the country. But the existing state of affairs cannot be much longer maintained, and we can only hope that the present crisis may prove the final one, and that something like a strong and capable government—whatever its nature—may spring from it.

MINOR TOPICS.

We were glad to hear yesterday that the Government have taken steps to secure the protection of Americans resident in Cuba, and have given orders that inquiry be made into the recent execution of American citizens on the charge of fillibustering,—and particularly into the Speakman case, to which we have twice called attention in leading articles. One of our iron-clads has already been dispatched to Santiago de Cuba,—the place where the Spaniards perpetrated what appears to have been an outrage,—and several other of our heaviest iron-clads will speedily follow the one already sent. We have never had any doubt of the determination of the President and Secretary of State to secure full protection to those of our citizens resident in Cuba. The action they have now taken is all that could be desired.

With a single brief interruption in the laying of the French cable, the work has gone on admirably and regularly from the beginning until the present time, when it is nearly completed. The daily reports from the Great Eastern have shown the careful and systematic way in which the business was carried on. A great deal has been learned by the experience of the past as to the best mode of doing things.

In many places in the Southern States it seems the Fourth of July has been celebrated almost exclusively by the negroes. Why is this? The day of National Independence is an anniversary that the whole American people may celebrate, without regard to the changes of modern politics.

Out of public life as in public life, Secretary SEWARD adheres to his idea of "manifest destiny" and territorial annexation. "If," said he in his Sacramento speech, "you are for the country, and the whole country, to its utmost borders, I am with you in that. If you are for preserving what we have, and adding to it whatever may be properly annexed, I am with you. But, if there are any who are not for adding whatever God has designed to be part and parcel of the republic, I am not with them." Secretary SEWARD is going to Mexico, to visit his friend, President JUAREZ; and though he is not now able to negotiate officially for the annexation of Lower California and Northern Mexico, we have no doubt he will give JUAREZ some ideas on the subject.

On the night before VALLANDIGHAM, then Democratic candidate for Governor of Ohio, was sent through the lines of the Army of the Cumland, by order of General BURNSIDE,—it was in midsummer of 1863, now six years ago,—he was visited at the quarters assigned him in Murfreesboro, Tenn., by General WM. S. ROSECRANS, then commanding the Department. General ROSECRANS, forgetting his dignity, as he occasionally did, entered into a long and, on his part, violent discussion on political subjects. During the conversation VALLANDIGHAM, claiming that his position would be justified by the future policy and events of the war, remarked to ROSECRANS that in five years the General would think as the exile then thought, and stand where he then stood. It seems that VALLANDIGHAM was right as to facts, and very nearly correct as to time. He may not think precisely as VALLANDIGHAM thought, but as the candidate of the Democracy of Ohio for the Governorship, ROSECRANS certainly stands where VALLANDIGHAM stood.

There is hardly a day but some "excursion party," consisting of men more or less distinguished, is reported as having started for the grand tour to the California Coast, over the Pacific Railroad. The people of the East are rapidly getting acquainted with the States on the other side of the Rocky Mountains.

A few days ago, we heard of extensive revenue frauds in New-Orleans, and now we hear of the same sort of thing in St. Louis. There are evidently vigilant parties engaged in the detection of frauds. They ought to be encouraged, and the defrauders ought to be severely and promptly punished. Thus the Government would be aided in its important work of collecting the revenue.

The leaders of the Democratic forces of the Fourth Ward should keep a sharper lookout upon their men than they have been accustomed to do of late. The "boys" have armed themselves with revolvers, and now it rarely happens that a night passes without a free fight being indulged in, during which pistols are used freely. As it is an internal strife of the Kilkenny-cat order, where one is bent upon the destruction of the other only, the public have but little care for the result, but, unfortunately, the lives of innocent passers-by are greatly imperiled, and this fact leads us to demand that the leaders will call off their dogs.

At the banquet of the Society of the Army and Navy of the Gulf at Long Branch, on Thursday night, the mistake so common in all reunions of this kind, of ranging the banqueters according to rank, was again repeated. It was calculated to produce a gentle dullness—as it did, in fact only varied and marred by the presence of FRANK BLAIR. There is, or ought to be, no rank on social occasions. The men who served in different grades and branches of the army have the most interesting experiences for each other.

As the Fall elections approach the various officials who expect to be candidates for re-election, and whose return to their positions depend on the votes of the Democrats of this City, take every opportunity of making capital by displaying their animosity to the Police. Judge DOWLING yesterday indulged in an unnecessary quarrel with Captain PETTY, because he had persisted in demanding the trial of a woman regularly accused.

ARCTIC EXPLORATION.

Interesting Letter from Dr. Hayes—The Plans and Purposes of his Expedition.

The expedition of Dr. ISAAC I. HAYES and Mr. WILLIAM BRADFORD to the Arctic regions, sailed from St. John's, Newfoundland, on June 26. The letter from Dr. HAYES to a gentleman in Boston, which we give below, presents an interesting statement of the plans and purposes of the expedition. Dr. HAYES proposes to work seriously this season for the furtherance of his grand expedition of Arctic discovery, which he designs to make in the year 1870. The present voyage will undoubtedly be rich in artistic results, Mr. BRADFORD having joined it for the purpose of making sketches of Arctic scenery, and two excellent photographers being attached, who will bring back views of all the most picturesque and notable things seen on the voyage. The party will return in October, and soon afterward the literary and artistic results of the expedition will be given to the public from the press of Messrs. FIELD, OSGOOD & Co.:

ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland, June 22, 1869.

MY DEAR SIR: The Panther is now coaling, and will be ready for sea on Saturday. She has any amount of "iron-wood" sheathing on her sides and iron on her cutwater, and deadwood in her eyes, and everything else in the wood and iron way to make ice a matter of no sort of consequence to her. She is a bark with a full spread of canvass, and in the good old way with screw lifted she makes ten knots the hour, and under sail alone, she makes eight knots. She measures over three hundred tons, and carries four hundred tons of coal, which is good for fifty days steaming; and since we shall not be out over three months, and will rarely, if ever, work under a full head of steam, and will often use none at all, we want for nothing more in the steam way, or in any other way that I can see.

And this is the craft (Captain BARTLETT, Master,) which we have chartered, and in which we are to sail on our little Summer trip to Greenland, partly for pleasure, partly for health and partly for business.

The voyage if a little novel is not dangerous, and in the Panther it must of necessity be comfortable. The indefatigable zeal and energy of Mr. BRADFORD has left nothing unsupplied in the commissary way—and if you could see DUNMORE and CROSSMAN, (the photographers,) with their endless bottles and baths and chemicals, and BRADFORD, with his box of paints, you would think the icebergs would grow alarmed about their reputations, and that Greenland would make an effort to justify its name; for you may be sure that nothing will escape these enthusiastic gentlemen, and that everything will be done up in black and white and in divers colors.

As for destination, we go everywhere on the Greenland coast we can get. My own particular interest is in the southern part, which I have never visited, and where are the ruins of the old Norwegian settlements of the pre-Columbian period. You know it is claimed that there are a lot of round towers in South Greenland similar to that mysterious structure about which the ivy clings so tightly as the fancy on the pretty cress common of charming Newport. Well, whatever they may be, I want to look them up, and BRADFORD wants to have them photographed; and as for the famous old ruin of Karkotok, near Julianeshall, in which GRAAH and RINK have figured, why, if we can only get that and the crumbled Cathedral at Gardar, (where, according to TORFAEUS seventeen successive Bishops administered the "ordinances of the Apostolic Chair,") into the camera, I think our archæological friends will rejoice and be exceeding glad. Gardar was the headquarters of the Bishop or Officialis for the Byrds or inhabited places east and west of "the Island of Greenland," at "the farthest limits of the great ocean," and was within the see of Trondheim, Norway. Beyond lay the Ubygds, or uninhabited places, in which region is now situated the quite recent Danish colony of Upernavik, my old starting-point of 1860, where we touch, and where I shall make provision for the gathering together of dogs and furs and hunters for my North Pole campaign, which, I trust, will come off next year.

Aside from these serious objects which I have mentioned, and the hope I have of getting upon some more of the Greenland glaciers, our voyage is one of relaxation, and by the time this letter reaches you, you will have abundant cause to envy us as you swelter in the July temperature of Boston.

We made a good run, first in the Inman steamer to Halifax, and thence in another Inman steamer which plies from Halifax to this place, every other week. I am sorry you were not on the wharf when we shoved off from New-York, for I am sure you would have acted on the spirits as a sunbeam on a Newfoundland fog. Being bound for Greenland, it was generally understood that we were not to meet again in this world—such is the effect of the imagination. But God willing, I will greet you in October. Meanwhile preserve me in your memory, and believe me sincerely your friend,

I. I. HAYES.

WASHINGTON.

Election Day Appointed for Texas and Mississippi—The Canvass in Mississippi—Judge Dent on the Chicago Platform—The Alleged Disclosures of Mr. Boutwell's Intentions—Financial Schemes—The Negro and the Workingmen.

Special Dispatches to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Friday, July 9.

The President has promptly supplemented the Virginia election by fixing the day for the elections in Mississippi and Texas, which were to-day appointed for the last Tuesday in November, to wit.: Nov. 30. This day was determined upon so as to place the matter beyond all interference by the cotton crop or other industries requiring the attention of the laboring population at particular seasons, and yet have the elections transpire before the meeting of Congress. The mode of submitting the Constitution in Mississippi was also determined, to wit, the test oath and disfranchising clause to be submitted separately, as in Virginia, while the Twelfth article, which provided the manner and time of submitting the Constitution, having become inoperative because of the rejection of the instrument at the last election, is left out altogether. The Texas Constitution will be submitted as a whole, it being much more liberal in the matters generally termed proscriptive than either the Virginia or Mississippi Constitutions.

THE MISSISSIPPI CANVASS—JUDGE DENT.

Messrs. WOFFORD and JENKS, of Mississippi, who assume to represent the so-called Conservative Republican movement in that State, had an interview with the President to-day on the subject of the forthcoming election in that State They were apparently anxious for some expression of Executive encouragement, and the President is understood to have expressed the hope that their movement might result not only in placing the State of Mississippi in the Union, but her government in the hands of men who would faithfully execute the laws, protect person and property alike, and see to it that every man enjoyed the free expression of opinion and unmolested right of political action. At the same time he expressed his fears that their movement might be made the means of the triumph of men inimical to these ends, and he would therefore counsel harmony, if possible, in the action of all Republicans in the State on a liberal platform.

Judge DENT, who has signified his willingness to accept the Conservative Republican nomination if tendered, declares that the party must unequivocally indorse the Chicago platform, the reconstruction policy of Congress, and the Administration, if he is to be its candidate; this being done there seems to be no reason why there should be two Republican tickets in Mississippi.

SECRETARY BOUTWELL'S PURCHASE OF BONDS.

The indignation expended in Wall-street, over the alleged premature disclosure of Secretary BOUTWELL'S intention to purchase bonds to-day, is only the wail of the wounded, and has no such basis of premature disclosure to rest upon. To show how impossible such disclosure was it is only necessary to give the facts of the Secretary's action. He had resolved in his own mind to make a further purchase soon, but he did not decide whether he should do it this week, or next week, until between 3 and 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. He communicated his decision to no person whomsoever. He wrote the order to the Assistant Treasurer himself, copied it himself, and saw it sealed and mailed in the Sub-Treasury bag. The copy he placed in his pocket, went home to dinner, and after dinner, about 6 o'clock, personally called at the Associated Press office, and gave the agent the information to be telegraphed to the morning papers. The reports of his intentions were current here as early as 1 o'clock, and were doubtless instigated by the interpretation put upon the language of the Secretary's letter to General SPINNER. No matter what the Secretary's action may be, somebody is sure to howl, and the discomfited parties are always eager to ascribe their defeat to matters which the public know are beyond their control.

A NEW FINANCIAL SCHEME.

Secretary BOUTWELL is in receipt of all sorts of letters from all sorts of people on the subject of finance. One of the latest productions of this character comes from a well-informed gentleman who is confident that he has hit on an entirely new financial scheme, one of the immediate effects of which if carried out, will, in his opinion, be the bringing of greenbacks to par. He has been promised an audience by the Secretary, but he will not communicate his plan to the Government without an assurance that he will be recompensed if his theory should be found of as practical value.

AN INGENIOUS INVENTION.

A piece of mechanism for transferring railroad cars from one track to another without necessitating the running of the car several hundred feet back or forward, as the case may be, and without the use of switches, has been patented within the last few days. The practical advantages of it are a saving of depot room and of time, and railroad men say that it possesses some intrinsic merit. Propositions have been or will be made to the Union Pacific Railroad Company for its adoption.

THE NEGRO AND THE WORKINGMEN.

The negro appears to be giving infinite trouble to the various associations and unions of workingmen and mechanics in this district. The Typographical Union have not yet succeeded in settling the case of DOUGLASS, and, warned by their example, the Journeymen House Carpenters' Association have, in the title of their body, and in all other proper places, inserted the word white, which has been eliminated from nearly all the laws of the land, in order that they may not be harrassed by colored applicants for membership.

RECIPROCITY WITH CANADA.

The presence here of Hon. JOHN ROSE, Minister of Finance of the Canadian Government, has caused the return of Mr. THORNTON, the British Minister, from Newburyport, where he had taken his family. The visit of Mr. ROSE is induced by a desire to consult with the United States authorities respecting a new Reciprocity Treaty, but more especially on business connected with the Hudson Bay Claims Board, of which he is a representative of Great Britain.

BANQUET AT LONG BRANCH.

[illegible] of the Army and Navy of the [illegible] of the Gulf—The Services [illegible]

From Our Special Correspondent.

THE STETSON HOUSE, LONG BRANCH, N. J., Friday, July 9, 1869.

Long Branch was made lively last night by the visit of the officers of the army and navy who served in the Department of the Gulf during the war. From all parts of the country they gathered here in force to attend the first reunion that they have had since the close of the rebellion. It was a meeting that called up memories of the stormy days in which they had commingled when serving in the most distant, least salubrious and generally worst managed of the military districts into which the South was divided, that the rebellion might be subdued. These recollections were not always of happy hours, but there was a satisfaction in recalling them, in talking of the dangers and hardships endured together, and in reflecting that the dead had not died nor the living suffered in vain. There were many pleasant reminiscences, too, of life in the field to be talked over, many stories to be told, and battles to be fought o'er again amid these peaceful scenes, where no "long roll" sounds save the long roll of the breakers advancing on the beach.

When the Society met last evening in the drawing-room of the Stetson House, for the purpose of transacting business and listening to the annual oration and poem, a large assemblage of the guests at the various hotels gathered also, to see some of the famous heroes like SHERIDAN, FARRAGUT and HEINTZELMAN, who attended the meeting, and to listen to the proceedings. Admiral FARRAGUT presided, and Colonel GRANVILLE P. HAWES, the Secretary of the Society, brought forward the principal business in the nature of a constitution and by-laws.

By the terms of these the object of the Society is declared to be "to keep alive the many pleasant memories of the command, to foster among its members the kindly feeling and cordial companionship which characterized its officers in all their relations; to preserve the fair fame and glory of its fallen brave, and to transmit to posterity the good name of the living while it gratefully cherishes the memory of its dead." Officers of the army and navy who served in the Department of the Gulf, and have been honorably mustered out or still remain in the service, are entitled to membership. The initiation fee and annual dues are each $3—the same as in the Army of the Potomac—a sum sufficiently small to enable any man—whether officer or private—to join, were it not for the clause in the constitution of the Society which distinctly ignores the private soldier, no matter how gallantly he may have served. As the TIMES said the other day, it seems as if the example of the Society of the Army of the Potomac, which, at its recent meeting in New-York, reduced its initiation fee and annual dues for the express purpose of giving private soldiers an opportunity to join it, ought to be followed by all these organizations. All men who served faithfully in the war should be recognized as brothers. There should be no distinctions among the survivors of the armies, save for meritorious service in the field. The Society of the Army and Navy of the Gulf is but just formed. Doubtless it will consider this subject, and place itself right on the record at its next meeting.

The following officers for the ensuing year were elected:

President—Admiral D. G. FARRAGUT.

Vice-Presidents—Lieutenant-General P. H. Sheridan, Rear-Admiral T. T. Bailey, Major-General W. H. Emory, Major-General B. F. Butler, Major-General N. P. Banks, Major-General C. Grover, Major-General H. E. Paine, Major-General Godfrey Weitzel, Major-General Richard Arnold, Major-General E. R. S. Canby, Major-General T. W. Sherman, Major-General W. B. Franklin, Major-General J. J. Reynolds, Major-General Christopher Augur.

Recording Secretary—Colonel Granville P. Hawes.

Corresponding Secretary—General C. T. Christensen.

Treasurer—Major C. T. Barrett.

Executive Committee—Brigadier-General Frank Fessenden, of Maine; Brigadier-General George B. Drake, of Massachusetts; Brigadier-General George P. Bissell, of Connecticut; Brigadier-General James Bowen, of New-York; Commodore Thornton A. Jenkins, U. S. N.; Commander D. B. Harmony, U. S. N.

It was resolved to hold the next meeting at Boston on Aug. 5, 1870, the anniversary of the passage of the forts in Mobile Bay by Admiral FARRAGUT. The oration, prepared by Major-General WM. H. EMORY, the old Commander of the Nineteenth Army Corps, was read in his absence by General DUNCAN S. WALKER, formerly his Adjutant-General. In it he reviewed the history of the Department of the Gulf, and with a loving hand recorded the deeds of valor done there by the army and the navy. The poem, by Colonel A. J. H. DUGANNE, was a stirring tribute to the heroes of the war. Both were received with enthusiasm.

During the meeting General FRANK P. BLAIR entered the room, as an invited guest, and was received with great cordiality. He was subsequently assigned a seat on the right of General SHERIDAN at the banquet.

The banquet commenced at a little after 9 o'clock, and was what in the vulgate might be termed "a good square meal." Admiral FARRAGUT presided, with General SHERIDEN on his right, and General HEINTZLEMAN on his left, with the more distinguished Generals and Commodores at the same table, and those of lesser rank disposed at three long tables placed at right angles with it. About 200 gentlemen sat down to dinner. The regular toasts were responded to by General HUBBARD, Admiral BAILEY, Colonel CARR, Colonel HAWES, Colonel WILLIAM C. CHURCH, of the Army & Navy Journal, General THOMAS, Ex-Governor of Vermont, General BIRGE, who led the "forlorn hope" at Port Hudson, and General SARGENT.

General SHERIDAN, on being loudly called for, arose and said in his simple, manly, modest way:

"I do not know any men who have a better right to be jolly than we. I think that the Government owes us its safety and the safety of the country. It was the volunteer army that hurled back the enemy, and the sentiment of the country is that it was the volunteer force mainly that saved it."

This was received with enthusiastic cheering.

General FRANK P. BLAIR was brought forward by somebody as a soldier, and immediately commenced to make a speech as a politician. He said that, so far we had only heard of such men as SHERIDAN and FARRAGUT, but in the future we would hear of LEE and "Stonewall" JACKSON. This language was received with loud cries of dissent, and General BLAIR was called to order by many members for introducing a subject calculated to mar the harmony of the occasion, contrary to the rules governing the Association. Admiral FARRAGUT, the presiding officer, being appealed to, said that he felt constrained to call General BLAIR to order under the rules for introducing a subject calculated to mar the harmony of the meeting. General BLAIR sat down with a flushed face. It is due to him to say that he had apparently enjoyed the hospitality of his hosts, before he arose to speak, to a degree that rendered it difficult for him to express his ideas with his usual clearness. His conduct was universally condemned, and especially by his best friends. The excitement produced by this little episode soon blew over, and General BLAIR left the room.

Letters were read from Generals Butler, Banks, Hurlburt, Weitzel, Wright, Pleasonton, Emory, Paine, Sherman and others, expressing regret at their inability to be present. Volunteer toasts and speeches followed, and the festivities were kept up till a late hour.

The reunion was an eminent success, and too much credit cannot be given to Colonel G. P. HAWES, who on his own responsibility inaugurated the movement. In a graceful speech at the banquet he acknowledged the compliment paid him for his successful efforts. The meeting is one that will long be remembered by the officers of the command as their first gathering after a separation of six years. The ball given by the STETSONS to-night in compliment to the Society promises to be a brilliant affair.

ALUMNI COMMENCEMENT.

The Meeting of the Association of the Alumni—Interesting Proceedings—The Exercises of Commencement Day—Class Meetings.

From Our Special Correspondent.

AMHERST, Mass., Thursday, July 8, 1869.

The meeting of the Association of the Alumni of the College was held, yesterday, in the theatre, where, at an early hour, many of the graduates had gathered to exchange greetings and kind wishes. The number of the Alumni attending the Commencement exercises this year is said to be less than last year, still a large number had come, and the place of meeting was well filled. The retiring President, Hon. WHITING GRISWOLD, of the Class of 1838, made an address of welcome. The following officers were then elected:

Rev. Edmund K. Alden, D. D., of South Boston, Class of 1840, President; Judge Simeon Nash, of Gallipolis, Class of 1829, Rev. Dr. Samuel C. Damon, of Honolulu, Class of 1836, Rev. Dr. William Barrows, of Reading, Class of 1840, Robert E. Topping, Esq., of New-York CITY, Class of 1849, and Judge Luther R. Smith, of Choctaw, Ala., Class of 1859, Vice-Presidents. The Secretary and Executive Committee of last year were re-elected.

The newly-elected President, Dr. ALDEN, in a brief, humorous and pointed address, acknowledged the honor received, and called Rev. Dr. ROSWELL D. HITCHCOCK, of Union Theological Seminary, to the stage. Dr. HITCHCOCK made a pleasing speech, and proposed a resolution declaring that at or before the semi-centennial celebration in 1871, each class found a scholarship of not less than $1,000, the recipient to possess three qualities at least, a high moral tone, gentlemanly address, and the spirit of the scholar, and the sons of graduates, or remoter relatives, to have the preference in the appointment. The scheme is to be perfected by Judge LOYAL C. KELLOGG, of Rutland, Vt., Judge HENRY W. WILLIAMS, of Pittsburg, Penn., and Hon. WHITING GRISWOLD. The resolution was adopted by the Association of the Alumni.

Rev. Dr. DAMON, after an absence of eighteen years in the Sandwich Islands, returning once more to matriculate his son here, next spoke, touching upon the progress of the College since his day, and his sincere attachment and regard for the institution.

Dr. NATHAN ALLEN, whose peculiar views concerning the decadence of the Yankees have made him well known, spoke briefly on this his favorite topic, and insisted that he was correct in his views.

Others spoke, including Hon. HENRY L. STOCKBRIDGE, of Baltimore; Rev. WILLIAM H. WORD, of the Independent; Rev. M. M. DANA, of Norwich, Conn.; Judge SMITH, of Alabama; President FAIRCHILD, of Oberlin; and Judge NASH, of Gallipolis.

Rev. Dr. PAINE introduced and read a series of resolutions honoring the late Rev. Dr. VAIL, for forty years a member of the corporation, and absent but once at Commencement during that time.

Rev. Dr. R. D. HITCHCOCK sent to the Secretary a note declining on account of ill health, and with regret, his place on the Committee to receive funds for the erection of a memorial for those Alumni who died in the rebellion. The resignation was reluctantly accepted, and on motion of Professor TYLER, ELLIOT SANFORD, Esq., of New-York City, was elected to the vacancy.

This meeting of the Alumni is a most interesting feature of the exercises here. It was held in the theatre instead of the usual place, which was occupied by the entering class for their examination.

The evening of yesterday was occupied by a reunion of the Alumni in the theatre—a sort of promenade concert. As an experiment, it proved a success, and will probably hereafter take the place of the President's levée. A large number of ladies attended in full dress, but the wife of one of the Professors in the College bore off the palm.

COMMENCEMENT DAY.

The weather has been, during the week, very fine, but to-day, as if in honor of the occasion, it has surpassed itself. A large number of graduates have registered their names at the College book store. At 10 the exercises began, and continued till 2 o'clock. Twenty-eight gentlemen had the honor of appearing on the stage. The salutatorian, RICHARDSON, in pellucid Latin, made many happy hits, and took the house down with applause. CHICKERING pronounced an oration entitled "A Bright Example," having for its point the life and services of the late Hon. HENRY J. RAYMOND. The German and French orations—a new feature in Commencements here—of HOLLAND and KEESE, attracted much attention. The valedictory, by another RICHARDSON, was a solid, sound and sensible speech on a trite subject—"True Manhood." The salutatorian and valedictorian are gentlemen of superior culture, and have been appointed instructors in the College, beginning with the next term. The efforts of the speakers were sometimes ambitious flights, but were mostly of a high order.

HONORARY DEGREES.

The degree of Bachelor of Arts Extraordinary was conferred upon Lieutenant-Colonel WASHINGTON IRVING ALLEN, formerly of the Class of 1862, of Vernon, N. J., and on M. A. L. GLEASON, Class of 1868. The degree of Master of Arts on JOSEPH G. LONGLEY, of South Deerfield; FRANKLIN BONNEY, M. D., of Hadley; and EDWARD P. GRAY, of San Francisco, formerly a student here. The degree of Doctor of Laws on Judge OTIS P. LORD, Class of 1823, of Salem, and Hon. HENRY MORRIS, Class of 1822, of Springfield. The degree of Doctor of Divinity on Rev. EDWIN E. BLISS, Class of 1837, missionary at Constantinople, and on Rev. EDWARD P. GOODWIN, Class of 1856, of Chicago.

At the conclusion, and after benediction by President STEARNS, the Alumni proceeded to the feast of fat things spread in Alumni Hall. No after-dinner speeches are in order at this College, and when a substantial spread had been eaten and the College hymn—the same one since the first Commencement—had been sung, the dinner ended.

ELECTION OF TRUSTEE.

The place of the late Rev. Dr. VAIL, for forty years filled by him, was filled by the election by the corporation of Rev. ROSWELL DWIGHT HITCHCOCK, of Union Theological Seminary of New-York City. Dr. HITCHCOCK was graduated here in the Class of 1836, was a tutor here for several years, and has been through his whole life a teacher of young men. His election seems to have been entirely satisfactory to the Alumni, for they feel sure that he is the best man for the place. Such men as Dr. STORRS and HENRY WARD BEECHER, of Brooklyn, and Dr. HITCHCOCK, all graduates here, and members of the corporation, are indications, at least, that good work has been done here.

CLASS MEETINGS.

Fourteen members of the Class of 1859 met this year to celebrate their first decade. Those present pledged the class for a class scholarship of at least $1,000. One of this class has given his little boy a collegiate name, AMHERST STEARNS BEATTIE, embracing both college and President. The Class of 1849 also held a class meeting, and $500 raised from those present.

Preparations are being made for the general celebration in 1871 of the fiftieth birthday of the college.

THE UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN.

Resignation of Rev. Dr. Haven as President—Needs of the University.

From the Detroit Free Press, July 4.

The resignation of Dr. HAVEN as President of the University throws upon the present Board of Regents a very important duty. We shall not regret this if the Board of Regents show themselves equal to the duty of selecting his successor. It is not to be denied that our University is in a critical position. A few years since it was far in advance of any institution of its kind out of New-England, and in some points it was superior to any in the Union, but this state of things has changed. Harvard and Yale and Dartmouth have all learned from her example and adopted scientific courses, and now confer degrees for something besides what is known as the classical course; and two of the States where these Colleges are situated have had the wisdom to bestow upon their old and well-established institutions the liberal grant of lands made by Congress for the purpose of establishing an Agricultural College; and more than this, these institutions are in constant receipt of large donations from the rich men of their States, who feel that there are some nobler objects in this life than to hold fast with a miser's gripe to their money, merely for the purpose of accumulation. In New-York there has suddenly sprung into existence at Ithaca the Cornell University, endowed by the State of New-York with the entire of the lands granted to that State, amounting to over a million of acres, and by Mr. CORNELL, whose name it bears, with nearly a million in money more. This school has a President and a corps of Professors second to none in the United States. The Northwestern University is sustained by the Methodist Church, which is not only rich, but very ambitious of distinction. We are sorry to say that from the superior ability, we mean the money ability, of the schools surrounding Michigan, many of the very best men connected with our University have been taken away by the offer of larger salaries.

It is a lamentable fact that the State itself exhibits no feeling of pride in the success of the University. Every application for aid is met with frowns by those in power, and when successful has been from importunities which were humiliating to the Board of Regents and the Faculty. Our rich men who could give enough to place the University above want, and enable the Regents to secure the best of talent, have never yet given a thought in that direction, or, if they have thought about it, have not acted. The consequence is that the Regents have been compelled to part with their ablest Professors because the University of Michigan was too poor to retain them. Can this state of things be changed? The first step toward this is to secure a man of recognized ability as President. This can and should be done, and then a vigorous effort should be made to secure an annual income which would make it independent. We trust that the Board of Regents will not be too hasty in making their selection for a President. If they make a misstep in this, the days of our beloved University are numbered.

Admiral Hoff at Havana.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

In your "Minor Topics" this morning you have unintentionally wronged a gallant and most deserving officer, Admiral HOFF, who for many months has been in command of the American naval forces in Spanish West Indian waters. So far from having been lukewarm in defence of Americans and American interests, the Admiral has exerted himself to the utmost of his ability to uphold both, and has frequently saved Americans from incarceration by the Spanish authorities, or procured their release from prison. If he has not been so demonstrative in his movements as the naval representatives of other nations have been, it is solely because our Government has not placed at his disposal equal means of display and power. While the English and the French Admirals at Havana has each an imposing force of ships and men and guns at his disposal, our Government has given Admiral HOFF two or three insignificant little wooden gunboats, armed with what are now regarded as nothing better than popguns, utterly useless for serious work, and so paltry as to move the ridicule of Cubans and Spaniards alike. A good-sized sailboat might almost run down his flagship. Yet with this insignificant force at his command, Admiral HOFF has afforded efficient protection to American citizens; and that he has not done all that might be desired toward making the power of the United States feared in Spanish waters, must be attributed to the policy of the Government in sending our largest and most formidable men-of-war to cruise in peaceful European waters, and puts him off with such a beggarly array of wooden gunboats. Instead of relieving him, the Navy Department ought to send him at once a naval force adequate to the occasion. He is a true-hearted, gallant American sailor, and ought to be amply supported by the Government.

AN AMERICAN FROM HAVANA.

PERSONAL.

Hon. ISAAC LIVERMORE, of Cambridge, Mass., sails from this City to-day for Europe to visit Ambassador BURLINGAME, his son-in-law. Mr. LIVERMORE will be accompanied by his wife and daughter and Rev. Dr. BRIGGS, of Cambridge.

Governor STEARNS, of New-Hampshire, is recovering from his severe illness. He is able to sit up, but cannot yet safely leave his house.

Minister JOHN JAY, not Ex-Secretary HAY, as stated in a Cable dispatch, presided at the Fourth of July banquet at Vienna on the 5th inst. Mr. JOHN HAY has been in this country for months, editing the Illinois (Springfield) Journal, and was recently appointed Secretary of Legation to Spain. He sails from this port to-day in the steamer City of Paris, and will join General SICKLES in London and proceed at once to Madrid.

General THOMAS, now on a tour of inspection through the different sections of his department, was slightly injured, a short time ago, near Boise, Idaho, by the upsetting of a wagon in which he and his staff and other officers were riding to the garrison.

Lieutenant-General ARTHUR GORE died in England on the 23d ult., aged 85. He served in the campaign of 1815 with the Thirtieth Regiment, and was slightly wounded at Waterloo. He entered the army as Ensign in September, 1804, and became Lieutenant in October the following year; was made Captain 14th July, 1808; Major, 27th May, 1825; Lieutenant-Colonel, 28th June, 1838; Colonel, 11th November, 1851; Major-General, 16th May, 1857; and Lieutenant-General, in 1862.

General Halleck's Trip East—The Pacific Railroad.

From the San Francisco Alta, July 1.

A friend of General HALLECK's in this city has received a letter, written by the General just after his arrival at Louisville, Ky., in which he says that his party reached Chicago in five days and seven hours from Sacramento (schedule time); and he was seven days in reaching Louisville, his family having gone on to Saratoga. The General speaks favorably of the railroad, which he says is in excellent condition, except fifty miles near Wasatch, which is in a bad shape. The accommodations are in all respects satisfactory, but are too high in price. The rates of fare also he considers too high, but understands that they have been reduced since he went over, which is the fact. The meals on the road he reports as good, though very dear. Sleeping-car accommodations are also costly, the price for a single section for two persons being $5 or $10 per night. There are no second-class cars for emigrants or poor people, which is a mistake; and the twenty cents charged for each pound of extra baggage will, he thinks, drive families to steamer travel. General HALLECK is now at New-Orleans, but will make his headquarters at Louisville, Ky.

Death of a Clergyman in the Pulpit.

From the Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution, July 6.

On last Sunday night Rev. JOHN LONG, of Thomasville, N. C., a Methodist divine of twenty-five faithful years' service in the pulpit, began preaching to a large congregation in Wesley Chapel—the church of Rev. Mr. KIMBALL. He had continued some ten minutes, when he suddenly stammed, and with a livid face and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

Nothing was done at the Exchange yesterday, nor will any sales be made to-day. The sales of Thurs lay were the grand feature of the week, and they closed it. Next week one or two quite important ones will be made, the arrangements for which are both extensive and complete.

FINANCIAL.

Danville, Urbana, Bloomington and Pekin Railroad Company
(OF ILLINOIS)

First Mortgage Seven per Cent.

GOLD BONDS,

PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD AT THE FARMERS' LOAN AND TRUST COMPANY, NEW-YORK. COUPONS PAYABLE APRIL AND OCTOBER.

FREE OF GOVERNMENT TAX.

These Bonds are convertible into stock at par, at the option of the holder, and may be registered in the name of the owner at any time, if desired.

Length of road, 117 miles; total amount of bonds, $3,000,000, averaging less than $26,000 per mile, the bonds being secured by a First Mortgage on the whole road, equipment and entire property of the Company.

This road runs east and west on the line of the principal and oldest emigrant wagon road in the State, passing through several populous towns and cities, and the richest agricultural district in Illinois, which will furnish local business sufficient to make it a first-class paying road; while its connections with many principal lines through trade must be such as to make it one of the most profitable in the country. A glance at a map will convince any one that the prospects of this road are most promising.

The whole line has been graded at a cost of $1,200,000, and is now ready for the rails, which are being rapidly put down. The whole road will be completed early the coming Fall.

We offer a limited number of these bonds at 95 and accrued interest in currency, and recommend them as a safe and profitable investment.

$1,000,000 GOLD
Seven Per Cent. Bonds,
SECURED BY FIRST MORTGAGE ON THE MISSOURI VALLEY R. R.

INTEREST PAYABLE AT THE CITY OF NEW-YORK IN FEBRUARY AND AUGUST.
PRICE 92½ AND ACCRUED INTEREST IN CURRENCY.

This road commences at Kansas City, in the State of Missouri, traverses the fertile and populous valley of the Missouri River via Atchison, Leavenworth and St. Joseph, and thence passes through the Valley of the One Hundred and Two River to the Iowa State line. The whole length is 130 miles, 90 of which are already completed and in active operation, and the balance under contract. It has valuable railroad connections, is already doing a prosperous business, with prospects of an early and large increase.

We recommend these bonds as a cheap and safe investment.

More detailed information will be given on application at our office.

WALL-STREET USURERS.

The Grand Jury Examining into Charges Against Wall-Street Brokers for Usurious Practices.

Probable Indictment of Prominent Dealers—List of Witnesses Summoned to Testify.

For some time past rumors have been rife in moneyed circles regarding the stock-jobbing operations of sundry brokers and private bankers in Wall and Broad streets and vicinity. According to the rumors, they are represented to have been engaged in the forbidden practice of exacting usurious interest from those who had monetary dealings with them, and to have charged a great deal more to their customers than the law allows. Complaints have been made to the District-Attorney against the alleged Shylocks, and it is expected that some piquant and interesting revelations will be elicited concerning the secret and nefarious doings of several persons who are well known on 'Change. The investigation will be conducted before the Grand Jury now sitting for the Court of Oyer and Terminer, and will probably expose the manner of borrowing money on securities, how plans are made to induce amateurs to invest in the purchase of stocks and to what extent usury has been carried on. A large number of witnesses were summoned to appear before the Grand Jury yesterday, but that body was not prepared to hear evidence in the case, and the matter was temporarily postponed. No warrants have been issued as yet against any of the accused, but it is not improbable that they will be arrested as soon as their guilt is made manifest.

The following-named brokers, it is stated, are among those who have been summoned as witnesses:

THE INTERNATIONAL FOUR.

Farewell Entertainment to the Harvard Crew by the Nassau Boat Club.

The Nassau Boat Club of this City gave a farewell reception to the Harvard International, previous to their departure for England, at their elegant Club-house, foot of Thirty-fourth-street, North River, last evening. The Nassau Club now numbers one hundred members, most of whom were present at the reception. Among the invited guests were representatives from the Vesper Club of Yonkers, the Alcyone Club of Brooklyn, the Columbia, Atlanta and Waverley Clubs of New-York, and the Atlantic Club of Hoboken. A large number of crack oarsmen were present, among whom we noticed THOMAS FARREN, of Yonkers; Jos. BENSON, of New-Jersey; and Messrs. TRUAX and WITHERS, of the Atlantic; LAMBERT and CONNOLLY, O'NEIL, and others of the Waverley Club, were also among the guests, together with Captain JNO. GREENHOUGH and several City officials and members of the Press. The members of the Harvard crew, Messrs. LORING, SIMMONS, BASS and RICE, oarsmen, and BURBANK, coxswain, arrived in carriages about 9 o'clock, and were received with hearty cheers. Mr. LLOYD ASPINWALL, the President of the Nassau Club, bid them welcome in a brief speech, in which he spoke of the unequal task before them of attempting to compete with an English club on their own waters, and hoped that the sympathies of the whole English nation in favor of their antagonists, but assured them that they carried with them the best wishes of millions of Americans for their success, and if they were beaten it would be an honorable defeat. The English, he said, were a betting people, and most of their wagers were made against the Harvard crew, but he, for one, was not without confidence in their success, and although the Nassau Club was not a betting club, yet he had drawn his check for a small wager, which he desired one of the crew to take over and stake it against a like amount of English.

Mr. LORING, the Captain of the Harvard crew, responded briefly, saying that they intended to do the best they could, but he did not feel like boasting in advance, and would wait to see whether the result of the race should warrant it.

The company then partook of a bountiful collation, prepared under the direction of the Committee of Arrangements, consisting of J. B. WHITE, C. S. KINGSLEY, J. SMITH, GEO. HENRY, W. F. CORNE and J. A. GARLAND, of the Nassau Club. A band of music was in attendance, and the party enjoyed themselves in a jovial way until a late hour of the night.

The Harvard crew will sail for England in the steamer City of Paris at noon to-day.

POISONING CASE IN HOBOKEN.

Verdict of the Jury—Acquittal of the Husband Accused of Murdering His Wife—The Case One of Suicide.

The inquest in the case of the woman ELLEN ALLEN, who died on Wednesday from the effects of a dose of Paris green, and whose husband was arrested on suspicion of having administered it, was held before Coroner WHITE, of Hoboken, yesterday afternoon, and was concluded last night. Considerable evidence was taken, of which the following was the most important:

Dr. Elder testified that he had made a post-mortem examination of the deceased, and found no marks of external violence; the lungs, heart, liver and kidneys were in a healthy condition; the stomach contained about a quart of fluid of a greenish color, and a small quantity of a substance resembling flour; found some green stuff in some portions of the small bowels, which, upon testing, I found to be Paris green, and it is my opinion that it was Paris green which caused death.

Several other witnesses then testified, but nothing new was elicited, and Mr. Allen was again placed upon the stand. His evidence was in general of a contradictory nature. The only thing new which was elicited was that he distinctly remembered that on the evening of Tuesday, after Mrs. Allen had been out for the last time, she came in, and went to the closet, and remained there for a space of ten minutes, leaning against a shelf; he did not know whether he put the meat on the fire or whether she had done it, and could not tell anything about what occurred from that time until the time she said she was unwell.

Charles A. Murphy was then called, and stated that he was an employe of John J. O'Donoghue; was in his place of business, at No. 65 Franklin-street, when Mr. Allen came to tell of the death of his wife; Mr. O'Donoghue was going out at the time, when Mr. Allen met him and told that he had some bad news, saying, "Ellen is dead; she died this morning with cramps;" I went to Mrs. Muller's store to procure one of these boxes of Paris green, and Mr. Muller stated to me that three boxes had been sold during last Tuesday; they were small wooden boxes, similar to that produced in Court, and covered with green paper.

Cornelius O'Donoghue was then called, and testified as follows: I am a brother to deceased; am acquainted with Mr. Allen; he had been married to my sister five years and two months; my sister complained to me frequently that she was afraid of her husband on one occasion that she had been dragged down stairs and beaten; he, Allen, was in the habit of doing so; have seen my sister with a black eye; I chased him once and gave him a licking.

Mr. John J. O'Donoghue was then called and sworn, and testified to an alleged outrage on the deceased by her husband prior to the marriage; his arrest and marriage before Police Justice Hogan, of New-York, the girl at that time being between 16 and 17 years of age; he went on to state that he did not visit them, as he did not like the man, and was afraid of an altercation, but had seen a scar on her head, where Allen, it is alleged, struck her, and has often seen his mother crying about the manner in which the deceased was treated by her husband; his brother threatened to lick him if he ill-treated her any more, and he never heard of her being ill-treated afterward, he apparently having settled down; after the body was taken on the day of her death, Allen was not around the house, and did not put in an appearance until he, the deponent, went to search for him and found him in a neighbor's house, and told him that if he did not come then and act as a man ought to, under such circumstances, he, deponent, would punch his head.

During the examination, the witness appeared to be considerably affected.

The case was again resumed at 7:30 P. M.

Ernest O. Meyers being sworn, testified: I reside at the corner of First and Jefferson streets, and know the prisoner, Thomas Allen; he comes in my house occasionally; on Tuesday last he came in about nine o'clock in the evening, and said his wife was very sick with the summer complaint, and asked if I knew what was good for it; I gave him a gill of blackberry brandy, bitters and peppermint in a bottle; two hours later he came again, and asked if I knew a doctor, and I went with him for Dr. Benson.

The evidence was here closed. The Coroner said it was satisfactorily shown that the woman died from Paris green, and it was for the jury to decide whether she took it herself or whether it was administered by some one else.

After being out half an hour the jury returned the following verdict: "We believe that ELLEN ALLEN came to her death by swallowing a dose of poison,—Paris green—and that she took it voluntarily."

Upon the rendition of the verdict the prisoner, ALLEN, was discharged.

Governor Randolph's Staff.

Governor RANDOLPH has made the following appointments of Aids to his personal staff: Lieutenant-Colonel Robert S. Swords, Newark; Lieutenant-Colonel Amos Robins, New-Brunswick; Lieutenant-Colonel Robert S. Dumont, Morristown; Lieutenant-Colonel John Russell, Burlington. Major Edward T. Greene, commanding the Third Battalion National Guard, has appointed the following staff: Adjutant John C. Noeus, Quartermaster; John G. Bigelow, Paymaster; Frederick S. Neeley, Surgeon; W. W. L. Phillips, Chaplain; John Hall, Chaplain.

A HORRIBLE TRAGEDY.

An Insane Woman Murders Her Mother-in-Law—Painful Details of the Affair.

The residence of GEORGE B. DEANE, a truckman, has been for short time at No. 343 West Thirteenth-street, and his family consisted of himself, his wife ROSANNA, aged about 45 years, several children, some of them grown, and his mother, Mrs. SUSAN LAMBREAUX, aged 70 years. Besides these, several persons have been inmates of the house, and among these latter was a gentleman named DAVIS.

The family was prosperous, and but for one affliction that hovered over the house would have been happy. For six years past Mrs. DEANE has been subject to periodical fits of insanity, which increased in severity with their number, although not until quite recently attended with any exhibitions of violence. Some four months since she first disclosed a suicidal tendency and showed a razor which she said she intended to use upon herself. On that occasion the family physician advised that a close watch should be kept upon her, and if these signs should increase that she must be removed to an asylum to insure her own safety and that of others, as on that occasion, as well as previously, she had exhibited great malice toward Mrs. LAMBREAUX, and by her language showed that she was laboring under the hallucination that her husband intended to defraud her children by willing his property to his mother. But that fit soon passed, and Mrs. DEANE apparently becoming saner than she had been for a long time, her associates lapsed into a fatal sense of security. Four or five days since her symptoms returned again, but not with any considerable violence, and as she was absolutely under the control of her eldest daughter, no apprehensions were entertained.

Yesterday she was out of the house for some time, and upon her return refused to tell where she had been; but, as she was seemingly calm, no strict watch was put upon her. After dinner Mrs. LAMBREAUX retired to her room on the third floor, and Mrs. DEANE was occupied in the lower part of the house in her usual way. At about 8:30 o'clock in the evening she was missed for a few moments, but was soon again in her place, outwardly unmoved and unconcerned.

Some of the children, going up-stairs to bed at about the hour named, peeped into their grandmother's room, the door of which was ajar. They saw the old lady lying upon the floor, as if she had fallen from a lounge on which she had been lying, and, inexperienced as they were, saw that something was wrong, and running down stairs, gave the alarm. The family rushing up, found Mrs. LAMBREAUX lying on the floor insensible, with several marks of violence, as from a blunt instrument, upon her left shoulder, neck and head. A physician was instantly summoned and soon arrived, but almost before he had time to feel the pulse, its feeble fluttering ceased and Mrs. LAMBREAUX died without having recovered consciousness.

During all this time Mrs. DEANE had remained below unmoved by all the uproar and horror about her, which had been occasioned by the discovery of the lamentable tragedy which had been enacted in the solitude of that upper room. In the midst of the excitement she let in a flood of light upon the terrible affair by asking Mr. DAVIS to go up stairs and see what she had done. Aside from this remark she showed no consciousness of her deed, nor did she seem to realize that anything was amiss in the house. The affrighted and almost stupefied household could only gather about to prevent any recurrence of the horror in their midst and send for the Police.

Captain WASHBURN, of the Ninth Precinct, arrived within a few moments and soon discovered that Mrs. DEANE had armed herself with a hatchet, which she had concealed under her dress, and had attacked Mrs. LAMBREAUX as she lay upon the lounge. There was but little brutality in the old lady, and a blow made her helpless—two or three additional were sufficient to rob her of her little remnant of life. The paroxysm of ferocity in the mad woman must have soon passed away as there was no hacking of the body, and indeed the sharp edge of the hatchet had evidently not been used at all as no blood had been shed. Death had seemingly been caused by a fracture of the skull, but as no post-mortem has yet been held the exact nature of the wounds has not been determined.

As a measure of precaution Captain WASHBURN removed the unconscious murderess to the Station-house in Charles-street. She went quietly, attended by her daughter, and up to a late hour seemed to be still unconscious that she had been the principal figure in one of the most horrible of late tragedies. She will be retained at the Station-house to await the inquest, which will be held this morning by Coroner FLYNN.

POLITICAL.

Consolidation of Republican Associations.

A meeting of the Eighth District Republican organization was held last evening at the headquarters, No. 274 Grand-street, JOHN J. O'BRIEN, President, in the chair. The Committees appointed to confer with the German Republican Society and the Irish Republican Association reported that those Societies were willing to join the Association, and recommended that they be received. The report of the Committee was adopted, and the discussion of the proposed amalgamation postponed to the next meeting.

A Generous Deed.

In response to an appeal which appeared in the TIMES, from the Secretary of the Children's Aid Society, for means to enable them to take the children attending their industrial schools on excursions to the country, Captain H. B. CROSSETT, of No. 382 West-street, generously placed one of his large barges at the disposal of the Society, and yesterday carried the children of the Park and German industrial schools to the beautiful grounds of Crossett Grove. The violent rainstorm, however, made it undesirable to land, but the children, numbering about 600, had a splendid time on the barge. Refreshments, consisting of bread, meat, cakes, ice-cream, lemonade, &c., were supplied in great abundance throughout the day. A band of music was in attendance, to whose enlivening strains a giddy company tripped the light fantastic toe. Mr. SKINNER, Superintendent of Schools, assisted by Captain CROSSETT and others, directed the arrangements, and throughout the whole day there was no accident or unpleasant occurrence to mar the splendor of the day's enjoyment.

The German Language in our Public Schools.

A meeting of the German Central Committee was held last evening at Room No. 24 Cooper Institute, for the purpose of taking measures to have the German language taught in our public schools.

The Chairman of the Committee presided, and Mr. HOFFLE acted as Secretary.

Speeches were made by Dr. GERCKI and others on the importance of the subject under consideration, and also on the necessity of establishing Normal Schools for the instruction and training of teachers. A resolution was then offered to appoint a committee to confer with the Board of Education on the subject.

The resolution was adopted, and the Committee appointed by the Chair; after which the meeting adjourned.

Singular Suicide.

Yesterday morning the body of an unknown man was found hanging by the neck from a high fence in an open lot between Palisade-avenue and Paterson Plank road, north of Warren-street, Hudson City. The neck was broken, and from all appearance when the body was cut down, life had been extinct about half an hour. Justice LOGAN held a Coroner's inquest, and last evening returned a verdict of death by suicide. The deceased was 35 years of age, with dark hair, inclined to curl, with side whiskers. He was five feet nine inches high, and wore heavy new boots, gray pants and vest, an old brown sack and a cloth cap. The body will be kept as long as possible for identification.

Another Suicide by Poison in New-Jersey.

A man named JOHN W. JARVIS, a resident of Ferry-street, Newark, died at West Orange last evening, from poison, which he took for self-destruction. Deceased visited Mr. WILLIAMS' house, at Orange, yesterday morning, and was considerably under the influence of liquor. He went out for a while, and returning again still more intoxicated, remarked, "I guess it wasn't good stuff for it hasn't worked yet." Shortly after, JARVIS began to show symptoms of drowsiness, and when the people tried to arouse him he said he had been taking opium and he guessed it had fixed him. Drs. PIERSON and LLOYD were called in and administered the usual antidotes in cases of poison, but without effect, as death resulted at 7 o'clock P. M. He had frequently threatened to destroy his life when under the influence of liquor. Deceased was 35 years of age, and leaves a wife and daughter, both of whom reside in Newark.

Consolidation of Hudson County.

On Monday afternoon the Executive Committee of the Hudson County Consolidation Association will meet at the Riparian Association Rooms, No. 5 Exchange-place, Jersey City, for the purpose of taking measures for the consolidation of Hudson County into one city.

The Deposits of the Bay.

The Board of Health reports show that there were found floating in the Bay, between the foot of Court-street, Brooklyn, and Coney Island, during the month of June last, the following carcasses of dead animals: 89 horses, 23 cows, 61 pigs, 676 dogs, 205 cats, 55 [illegible], 23 fowls; besides 293 bods, 244 pillows, and a large quantity of offal. All these were removed and buried by order of the Metropolitan Board of Health.

New-York.

CHARLES WHITE, a [illegible]-fitter, was seriously injured yesterday afternoon, by some bricks falling upon his head while he was working at the Irving Bank, corner of Warren and Greenwich streets.

MICHAEL SULLIVAN, 11 years of age, last evening fell from the third-story window of No. 153 Elizabeth-street, and was injured severely. His wounds being dressed by Police Surgeon SUTTON, he was taken to his home, No. 149 Elizabeth-street.

CALLAHAN MCCARTNEY, a native of Ireland, 28 years of age, dropped dead last evening as he was walking through his store at No. 55 Mulberry-street.

The body of an unknown man was found last evening in East River at the foot of Thirty-sixth-street. It was taken to the Morgue and the Coroner notified.

Brooklyn.

RICHARD REMSEN, a carpenter, was arrested yesterday, charged with having obtained $140 at the Brooklyn Savings Bank by means of a check indorsed by JOHN MOTT. Mr. MOTT, it appears, when he found the check to be worthless, paid the amount to the bank and caused the arrest of REMSEN, who is held for examination.

There were 840 patents treated gratuitously at the Williamsburg Dispensary last month, and 1,093 prescriptions dispensed.

New-Jersey.

An unknown boy, 16 years of age, was run over last evening, between Elizabeth and Newark. The deceased was playing in a base-ball match, and while running after a ball saw a train going west, and stepped off the track out of its way, but did not notice the 2:50 train from Trenton on the other track. He was run over and instantly killed.

The Methodist Churches in the Newton District have voted 278 for to 240 against lay delegation.

Next Sunday evening Ex-President ROBERTS, of Liberia, and Rev. Dr. MCLEAN, of Princeton College, will be present at the Congregational Tabernacle, Jersey City, and address the meeting. Mr. ROBERTS is now President of Liberia College.

Cholera morbus is quite prevalent in Newark at the present time.

THE INDIANS.

Interesting Correspondence with the Universal Peace Union and the Progressive Friends.

The Universal Peace Union and the Progressive Friends united in the following letter, which was forwarded last March:

To the Indians of America:

DEAR FRIENDS AND CHILDREN OF THE ONE GREAT SPIRIT: Filled with love, sympathy and peace, we desire to acquaint you with the fact that we have memorialized the Congress of the United States in your behalf. We would have you know that our Government is of and for the people, and we encourage you to prepare yourselves for a representation and participation therein, that you may enter the councils of the nation and set forth your grievances, your sufferings, and your needs, to the end that you may be made happier, and by giving of your wisdom, endurance and bravery preserve the good of all. We shall encourage true and benevolent teachers to go among you, and we would have you receive them as bearing messages of good will from many sincere hearts. They will give you the means for intellectual improvement, and if you in a closer connection with the Republic, which should be to you a home. Your many trials and persecutions have filled us with sorrow, and while we demand that our people and our Government shall be just and honest, and give no cause for hostility, we earnestly entreat you to withhold the hand of violence and bloodshed. We abhor war. It is always attended with suffering and loss; and in a kind and fraternal intercourse there will be found the true way to redress wrongs, vindicate rights, and establish the blessings of amity and peace.

[Signed by the officers of the Progressive Friends and of the Peace Society.]

PHILADELPHIA, Third Month, 1869.

RESPONSES.

The following are among the replies already received:

PAWNEE RESERVATION, }
GENVA, Nebraska, May 19, 1869. }

To the Progressive Friends of Pennsylvania and the Universal Peace Union:

DEAR FRIENDS: Having received your circular, I take great pleasure in presenting it in an informal manner to the Chiefs of the four bands of this tribe, among whom it has been my privilege to teach for the last two years and a half, twenty-five years. I send a copy of the responses they made as I told them your message; and permit me to state I eagerly await the arrival of the Friend who is to take charge of this agency, trusting that after long waiting we are to have a fulfillment of our desires and right shall triumph here. ELVIRA G. PLATT,

Teacher in charge of Pawnee Manual Labor School.

Peĕt-ĭ-la-na-shĭsh, First Chief of the nation, says: "I am rejoiced to hear that I have friends who will speak kindly for me, and that what I have long desired I shall obtain—a house like a white man. My great father has sent me wagons and plows, but I have no large horses to draw them. I would like it if he would send me some, and then, plowing and living in a house, the white men when they look at me, will think I am like them!"

Tei-rer-ee-aw-ĭh, First Chief of the Tappeah band, says: "If those people they promise to send us come, and do not cheat us, I shall have a poor mind no longer."

Te-ra-ro-wĭ-hĭsh-thor-e, First Chief of the Republican band, says: "I went to Washington and heard what my Great Father there said, and I thought he would not lie. He promised us honest agents, but some have cheated us. I am glad he will send us one he is sure will not cheat. I would like to have a house like a white man, and at least four large horses to draw my plows and wagons—my ponies are too small for that work. I am always happy to visit the school and see the children learning. I know the time is near when I cannot hunt buffalo, and then we should know how to get along."

La-ta-Bots-Ne-Sharo says: "This is a very pleasant letter, and I hope if the people come here they will treat us as that letter says they will. I agree with these people. I do not like to fight, but sometimes am obliged to. If we can have an agent that will see that all is done that this letter speaks of, I shall be glad to see him. I want to work like the whites, for I see the day is coming when we must live like them. These are the words of the First Chief of the Pawnee tribe."

The Second Chief, Baptiste Bayhulle, who is also interpreter, says: "This is the best letter I have ever heard, and I hope those who have written it are truly our friends. If they are, and do as they promise to do, I think it is going to be a great help to my tribe to have such a people here. Anything they wish to do for my tribe they will ever find me ready to help them do."

UMATILLA AGENCY, Oregon, May 29, 1869.

GENTLEMEN: Your manifesto to the Indians has been received, and according to your desire I have communicated its contents to the Chiefs of my tribes. Your salutary counsels and good wishes in their behalf give them real pleasure and satisfaction. In return they like me to be their interpreter in conveying to you their good feelings and peaceable disposition toward the Government and the Americans, on whom they look as brothers. For my own part, I feel really gratified that the Honorable President of the United States has decided on a radical change in the Indian Department. Many reservations, instead of being a school of education and civilization, have rather been a detriment to the temporal and spiritual welfare of the savages. Let everywhere a Christian and religious system prevail, and the natives will soon understand their duties to themselves, their neighbors and their Creator; they will be happy here and in eternity. I remain, gentlemen, with profound respect, your obedient servant,

F. VERMEERSCH, Missionary.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 22, 1869.

Alfred H. Love and the Gentlemen composing the Commission for the Amelioration of the Condition of the Indians:

GENTLEMEN: I received your circular of March, 1869, addressed to the Indians under my supervision, as special agent for the Mission Indians of Southern California, and in their behalf will respond briefly. They are glad that the friends of justice and humanity are about to interest themselves in their behalf. They would represent that, up to this time, no lands have been set apart by the Government for their use. Many of them are living on lands belonging to private individuals, and are liable to expulsion from the only home they have any day. Others occupy small portions of the public domain, which is constantly encroached upon by the frontier settlers; and, unless some portion of the territory suitable for cultivation is allotted, they will soon be homeless vagabonds, and at the mercy of lawless rumsellers. Nearly all the Mission Indians know how to work and cultivate the soil, and will require from the Government very little assistance after being located on suitable reservations. With a careful, honest and humane superintendent to reside among them and personally direct their labor and the establishment of schools for the young, they would in a very few years be self-sustaining, and the Government would be relieved of all charge on their account. In conclusion, I will add that I have been acting as special agent for the Mission and Coahuilla Indians for the last five years, and during that time I have used every endeavor to promote the welfare of the Indians under my charge. Very little has been done for them. I have twice obtained some seed and a few farming tools for distribution among them, and a few blankets have been sent them. I have forwarded to the Department annual reports of the condition and wants of the Indians, also showing their number, location, &c., and I trust that now some action will be taken in their behalf.

Your obedient servant,

J. Q. A. STANLEY,

Special Agent for Mission Indians of Southern California.

ONEIDA, Wis., June 18, 1869.

To the Friends of Peace in Pennsylvania:

FRIENDS AND BROTHERS: Truly, the Great Spirit, our Great Father, is ever-mindful of all His children. He does not forget even the red men of the forest, the ignorant, and the most disobedient. We have kindly received the message of love, peace and good-will from you, and we now sincerely tender you our thanks for your kind and instructive message, and for your continued efforts to do good to us and all the Indians. We also offer thanks to our Heavenly Father for His great goodness in giving you the good and benevolent spirit to work for the benefit of the poor and ignorant people of our land. In answer to your message we are very sorry to say that as a tribe we are not united in making up our response. A division of the tribe has existed now for a number of years, and the two parties are continually becoming further and further separated from each other respecting matters relating to the interests, advancement and civilization of the tribe. When we received your message we came together and tried to get up an answer as a tribe, but, as usual, could not agree. But after a little consultation we have prevailed in making them (the other party) promise that they will not again trouble us in trying to make terms with the General Government, so that our grievances, sufferings, and needs are little different from many of the Indians in the West, and also the manner and the length of time for preparation to enter the councils of the nation are different. There are a number of our people who would be glad to have a chance to become citizens of the United States at once, by reason of the many inconveniences and troubles arising from the manner in which we hold our land, of the uncertainty of living where there are no laws to protect our persons, life and property, and for preventing waste and damage to the whole of our timbered reservation. There are others, again, who simply desire to have our land surveyed and allotted to each individual, and have a law over us similar to the laws of the State of New-York for its Indians. Others, or the other party, oppose any measure toward making any change in the customs, habits and the old once used-to-be regulations of the tribe.

Now, as to our wants and needs particularly. We want to have our land surveyed and allotted to each individual owner of the reserve, and the laws of the United States extended over us, and enjoy its protection and its advantages as citizens, if practicable, on the following condition: that our land, and all other taxable property, except the road and school taxes, be exempted for a period of fifteen years, if not possible, for twenty-one years. We desire also that a provision be made so that those who wish to assume the responsibilities of a full citizenship at once may have the chance to do so. If the Government will not be willing to withhold its taxes from us a little while, it will do us no harm. We are willing and ready to receive and take upon us anything that will tend to relieve us from the many embarrassments and disadvantages attending the life of ignorance. We hope and pray that you may succeed in civilizing and Christianizing the Indians of America, and speedily establish the blessings of a lasting friendship and peace.

EX-SECRETARY SEWARD.

His Reception in Salt Lake City.

Hon. WILLIAM H. SEWARD was serenaded in Salt Lake City, Utah, on the evening of June 25, and in response to calls from the crowd, spoke as follows:

"Fellow-citizens, it would be impossible for me to speak so as to be heard by so large an audience as this; and were it otherwise proper, the circumstances under which I am traveling through the country forbid me from engaging in any kind of discussion of public or political affairs. They do not forbid me, however, acknowledging the hospitality and kindness which have been shown me by my fellow-citizens. This is all that I can do, and I do it with a free, kind and good heart. I thank you for the hospitality you have shown me since I came to your city. I thank you for your attendance to-night, and I pray God that the great marvel which I witness here may result in establishing a good civilization in the heart of the American Continent; and in so great a nation of earth that it cannot fail, if it be prosecuted by industry and virtue, in advancing the welfare of the whole human race. Accept my thanks once more, for this kind greeting and permit me to bid you a cordial good-night."

The band played "Thou art gone from my gaze," when, in response to vociferous calls, Mr. F. W. SEWARD was introduced by Alderman RICHARDS, and said:

"Fellow-citizens, I thank you heartily for this kind greeting. It has given me much pleasure to visit a region of country of which I have heard so much, and in which, in common with all my fellow-countrymen, I have taken so deep an interest. Even the brief glance that we have already been able to bestow upon it assures us of its wealth, of the greatness of its agricultural resources, and of its rich future. I join with you in your congratulations over the completion of the Pacific Road. Remote as you have hitherto been, both from the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, you are now brought in close connection with each of them. It is not easy to estimate the value of the benefits which that road is destined to confer upon you, upon our country and upon the world; nor is it easy to estimate the value of the guaranty it gives of prosperity to our States, and of the perpetuity of the Union. Accept, gentlemen, my best wishes for your future, and my hearty thanks for this greeting."

A STRANGE DISORDER.

A Well-known Citizen of Chicago Fatally Poisoned by Wearing Scarlet Stockings.

From the Chicago Tribune, July 8.

A strange case of threatened fatality, arising from a most peculiar cause, has just been developed in this city. On the 27th of June last (St. John's Day) Mr. ALEX. BANGLEY, a well-known grocer of the North Division, joined an excursion of the French Society of St. Jean de Baptiste, to Bourbonnaise Grove, near Kankakee. He wore, on that occasion, a pair of what are known as French socks, composed of fine-thread material with bright scarlet bottoms, which his wife had purchased at a leading dry goods store. At the close of the picnic, and on his return to Chicago, Mr. BANGLEY complained of severe pain in his feet, and on the following morning was unable to attend to his business in consequence of their painfully swollen condition. From that time forth the strange disorder increased rapidly, extending, in white blisters, over nearly the entire body of the sufferer. Drs. HENROTIN and FISHER were summoned, and were at first of the opinion that the case was one of erysipelas, but were soon compelled, by the symptoms, to abandon this diagnosis. The physicians were completely at a loss to account for the peculiar manifestations of the disease, which unquestionably indicated that a deadly poison had been infused into the system through the medium of the blood. After several consultations had been had, the doctors incidentally learned of the scarlet-footed French socks worn by Mr. BANGLEY on St. John's Day. A minute examination of the socks developed the fact that in the bright red coloring matter was contained a principle of acute poison, the absorption of which into the sensitive sole of the foot had been aided by abundant perspiration, until it had taken complete possession of the system. Subsequent to arriving at the cause every effort was made to effect a remedy, but without success. Mr. BANGLEY'S condition has continued to grow worse day by day, until, on yesterday, he was advised to make his will, as he had but a short time to live. So stands this singular poisoning case at present. It is stated that other cases of the kind have arisen from the same cause, though not nearly so severe.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

Can you tell me why the Elevated Railroad Company do not hurry up and push their road to completion? The plan of this road is far more feasible and will not cost more than a tenth part of what the Underground road will cost, and will be far preferable when done. Give us light. B.

We must refer this inquiry to the chief promoters of the Elevated Railway.—TIMES.

THE MINISTER TO HAWAII.—Hon. HENRY A. PEIRCE, Minister Resident of the United States of America at the Hawaiian Islands, takes his departure to-day in the ship Ideal for Honolulu. During his short stay here on his way to the Islands, Mr. PEIRCE has renewed his acquaintance with the inhabitants of this city, so long the scene of his operations in former years, and bears with him the highest respect of all classes of the community for his official abilities and private worth.—San Francisco Alta California, July 1.
